"ATROCITIES" TRIAL IS REVEALED

Drew Pearson Says Evidence Is "Shocking"

Officer "Squealed" On Fellow Americans

Drew Pearson, whose column, "The Washington Merry Go-Round," appears daily in the Cumberland News, was the first to disclose the fact that one of the most sensational court-martials in recent naval history is secretly being held. His story, printed below, apparently forced the Navy Department to confirm his facts last night.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Carefully hushed up by the Navy, one of the most sensational court-martials in recent naval history is secretly being held at the naval gun factory in Washington. It is similar to the Army's famous Lichfield Prison trial, though with even more shocking revelations regarding the beating and starvation of American enlisted men in a Japanese prison camp. The shocking thing is that an American naval officer, Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little, Decatur, Ill., an Annapolis graduate, class of 1930, is considered responsible for these atrocities because he "squealed" on his fellow Americans.

Evidence has been disclosed that as a result of Little's tale-telling to the Japs, William Knight, a United dStates Army enlisted man, was so severely beaten that he died five days later, and that Cpl. James Pavlockus, of the Shanghai 4th Marine Regiment, was slowly starved by the Japs until, on the 38th day, he died. There were various other beatings and punishments given to American prisoners as a result of Little's reports to the Japs.

Evidence Is Cited

Evidence given by American prisoners interned with Little indicates that he curried favor with the Japs at the expense of his own fellow prisoners. A majority of the prisoners in Camp 17—a total of 1,700 of various nationalities, United States, English, Australian, and Dutch—filed complaints against Little with the war crimes office.

The shocking behavior of this Annapolis graduate took place at Camp 17, Fukioka District, Japan. The camp was located near the Japanese coal mines and the Allied prisoners were forced to work in the mines 12 hours a day. Food was scarce and some of the men were weak from hunger. Occupying the key position in the camp in charge of the mess was Lt. Comdr. Little, at that time a senior naval lieutenant. Since his word was law over food, he was the most powerful officer in the camp.

Actual camp commander during part of the time was Maj. Achilles Tisdelle, of Orange Park, Fla., then a captain. Since the Japs had made Tisdelle top commander of the camp, he was supposed to outrank Little. However, Little claimed that he had seniority, and refused to take Tisdelle's orders. Since Little had the inside track with the Japs, he was able to get away with it.

Knight Beaten And Starved

At one time Tisdelle and Little clashed over the rotation of cooks in the mess. Maj. Tisdelle pointed out that some of the prisoners were weak from lack of food and proposed that they rotate as cooks, thus giving them a chance to get extra food. Little, however, flatly refused. He told Tisdelle he would run his mess and Tisdelle could run the rest of the camp.

The death of Knight came after he had stolen food, and Little reported him to the Japs. Obviously he knew the Japanese punishment would be severe since he sometimes threatened men that he could have them killed. At any rate, Knight was beaten to within an inch of his life, and then starved. He died in five days. Maj. Thomas H. Hewlett, the camp doctor, of New Albany, Ind., who examined the body, reported that he was horribly beaten.

Later, the Japanese prison commander, Capt. Isamao Fukuhara, was executed by United States authorities as a war criminal for ordering Knight's death. However, it has taken a year and a half to bring Lt. Comdr. Little, the man who reported Knight to Fukuhara, to trial.

Racial Issues Are Ruled Out In Lynch Trial

Judge Gives Warning To Defense Council

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 19—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., late today told defense council "I'm not going to allow racial issues" in arguments for acquittal of 28 white defendants charged in the lynch-murder of a South Carolina negro.

The chunky, 37-year-old jurist laid down his edict over violent defense objections a few hours after the defense had rested its case abruptly without testimony of a single witness or submission of any evidence.

Judge Martin also announced he would permit no appeal to the jury on the proposition that the lynch victim—Negro Willie Earle—had confessed to a mob of taxi drivers that he had stabbed one of their associates.

Both Questions To Be Raised

Defense Attorney Thomas Wofford announced he would raise both questions tomorrow and would appeal to the South Carolina Supreme Court if silenced.

"There has been entirely too much said about Willie Earle," he declared, "and not enough about T. W. Brown, the slain taxi driver."

The judge said: "There is not going to be any discussion."

Wofford retorted: "If there isn't any it certainly won't be my fault."

"Well," replied the judge tartly, "It certainly is going to be mine."

Wofford and Defense Attorney Benjamin A. Bolt argued that a large number of incriminating statements made by the defendants mentioned the negro's alleged confession and contended: "We are entitled to argue anything that's in the record."

Acquittal Of Three Ordered

Bolt also told the court that on the principal count of the indictment — murder — the defense would not ask a diminishing degree of guilt, and declared: "It's murder or nothing."

Court will convene at 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow for final arguments.

Defense Attorney Benjamin A. Bolt closed the case dramatically after Circuit Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., had directed acquittal for three of an original 31 defendants, and granted qualified acquittal on two out of four counts for another seven. Moreover, the court announced, incriminating statements allegedly made by 26 defendants at the time of their arrest will be admitted in evidence only against the persons making them.

Naval Officer "Mistreated" U. S. Prisoners

Court-Martial Under Way For Two Months

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Navy announced today that "maltreatment" of fellow Americans in a Japanese prison camp where he was senior officer is the basic charge against Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little, of Decatur, Ill., in a secret court-martial going on here for the last two months.

The fact that Little is on trial on unspecified charges before a closed court was all that the Navy had said about the case before. The meager details were given out after dispatches from Tokyo reported that affidavits were being taken from naval personnel there for use at the trial.

Charges, the Navy said, are based on "allegations concerning his conduct toward his fellow prisoners." The three major complaints were listed as:

Maltreatment of a person subject to his orders; conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Tokyo Dispatches Cited

At first the Navy announced Monrovia, Calif., as Little's address but later said a re-check of files showed Decatur, Ill., as a more recent address.

No details appeared in the Navy statement but Tokyo dispatches said Capt. Isao Fukuhara, commander of the Japanese Camp 17-B at Omuta, Fukuoka, on Kyushu, told a military court in February, 1946, that a Lt. E. N. Little had requested punishment of a fellow prisoner for stealing bread.

Allied headquarters in Tokyo identified the court-martial defendant, then a lieutenant, as having been mess officer at that camp.

Fukuhara, testifying in his own defense against charges of atrocities, said Little was in charge of the kitchen and was responsible for preventing pilfering and punishing offenders.

The camp commander named the prisoner punished for stealing bread as Pvt. William H. Knight, of Warsaw, N. Y., and said he was put in the guardhouse.

An affidavit from another witness, introduced in Fukuhara's trial later, said Knight died of torture in the guardhouse, but did not say whether it was on the occasion when he was jailed over the bread.

Awarded Silver Star

Alva C. Carpenter, chief of the Allied Headquarters Legal Section in Tokyo, said affidavits from a number of former prisoners, saying Little had turned them over to Japanese guards for punishment, have been forwarded to Washington.

The Navy said its personnel files show Little is 39 years old, appointed to the Naval Academy from Illinois in 1926 after service as an enlisted man, captain of the academy rifle team in 1929, graduated in 1930.

Little was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action before the fall of the Philippines where he was stationed in the Navy yard at Cavite. He was captured at Corregidor.

The files also show, the Navy reported, that after his release from the Japanese prison camp in October, 1945, Little was on leave at the naval hospital in Oakland, Calif., until January 24, 1946.

Truman's Mother Slightly Improved

President's Daughter Reaches Kansas City

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 19 (AP) — President Truman's 94-year-old mother, gravely ill at her home here, was reported slightly better late tonight, as the Chief Executive sought a night's sleep in nearby Kansas City.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, after a talk with Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's personal physician, at 10:30 p. m. (EST), told reporters Mrs. Martha E. Truman was "somewhat better" after seeing Margaret, the President's daughter, who flew in earlier in the day.

Ross said the elder Mrs. Truman's temperature at that time was 98.4, virtually normal. Her pulse was regular and her tired heart was acting "fairly regularly," he added.

Miss Magaret Truman, the President's daughter, flew into Kansas City late this afternoon from Pittsburgh where she had cancelled a professional singing concert tomorrow night to be with her grandmother.

Sleeping "More and More"

Ross told the reporters at Kansas City after a telephone conversation with Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's personal physician:

"Gen. Graham said Mrs. Truman seems a little stronger at the moment, but there has been a general weakening in her condition. She is sleeping more and more."

The thin, courageous little woman fought against the seemingly overwhelming odds of a "very tired and weak heart," but she maintained a cheerful manner even though she failed to rally from last night's setback.

Meanwhile, Margaret Truman joined her father at her grandmother's modest frame bungalow here. She had become alarmed in Pittsburgh over reports on the elder Mrs. Truman's condition and cancelling concerts there and in Cleveland, flew to Kansas City, 17 miles from Grandview.

Greeted At Airport

She was greeted at the airport by Maj. T. J. Stricker, husband of Miss Truman's voice teacher, and Mrs. Frank Wallace, an aunt. They drove directly to Grandview in a Secret Service car.

Her mother, Mrs. Bess Truman, plans to leave Washington tomorrow for Kansas City.

The President, maintaining his vigil at his mother's home, was to decide later whether to drive to the Kansas City Muehlebach Hotel to spend the night as usual.

Despite her weakened condition, Ross said, Mrs. Truman is receiving no heart stimulants or opiates.

WE, Union Split By Three Issues

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Negotiators failed again tonight to end the last big dispute blocking nationwide peace in the telephone industry and the talks were recessed until 9 a. m., E. S. T., tomorrow.

Conciliators said three issues remained to be determined between the Western Electric Company and a union representing 20,000 installation workers.

As a result of this dispute, picket lines were reassembled around major telephone exchanges across the nation today, curtailing service again in some areas.

President Ernest Weaver, of the installation union—the Association of Communications Equipment Workers—told reporters that the pickets would be on the job again tomorrow.

The ACEW was virtually the last holdout among the 39 affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers which had walked out last April 7.

The three issues which still remained in deadlock were not divulged.

Md. Strike Date Undecided

BALTIMORE, May 19. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Weiss, president of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, said today it was still undecided whether the state's operators will go on strike.

She said results of Saturday night's strike vote would not be announced until sometime tomorrow.

The switchboard operators quit their jobs for about two hours Saturday to attend meetings for a poll on a possible strike.

The operators, numbering approximately 4,200, are seeking a $4 raise. The company has offered $3. Their present salaries range from $28 to $42 weekly.

Jap Premier Submits Cabinet's Resignation

TOKYO, Tuesday, May 20 (AP)—Conservative Premier Shigeru Yoshida submitted the formal resignation of his cabinet to Emperor Hirohito this morning, while political leaders sought to clear final barriers to the appointment of Japan's first Socialist premier.

Yoshida and his ministers will remain in office until the new premier is recommended by the Diet, probably within a day or two. Tetsu Katayama, chairmen of the Social Democratic (socialist) Party central committee seemed certain to receive the post.

Snyder Sees Tax Cut But Is Silent On How Or When

Knutson Says Time For Slash "Here Now"

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told Congress today "a period of tax reduction is approaching," indicating that the administration, which has opposed tax slashing now, will approve a later easing of the tax load, possibly in 1948.

However, President Truman's chief fiscal spokesman gave no hint whether the executive intends to veto the Republican-backed $4,000-000,000 current income tax cut now pending in Congress.

Makes No Recommendations

Neither did he make specific recommendations for tax reductions in the future. He told the House Ways and Means Committee the first requisite of a sound tax system "is that it should produce adequate revenue to balance the budget and to provide a substantial payment on the public debt."

He endorsed the committee decision to "modernize the federal tax structure, as the tax-framing group opened hearings on means of "streamlining" tax statutes for the first time in 20 years. This legislation, which is distinct from the current tax cut bill, will be written next year.

Snyder's statement that "a period of tax reduction is approaching" drew immediate comment from Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Knutson, author of the current $4,-000,000,000 slash passed by the House and now before the senate, declared:

"The time for tax reduction is here now, and has been here for months."

Long-Range Inquiry Opens

As the long-range inquiry got underway, Senate Republicans prepared for a quick showdown on the current $4,000,000,000 cut, ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest individual income bracket down to 10.5 per cent at the highest income levels.

Senate Democrats are standing solidly for postponement of action on any tax cut until mid-June, when they contend Congress will have a better slant on how much the Republicans are able to cut President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

Soldier Is Given Death For Armed Robbery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. May 19 (AP)—A criminal court jury late today convicted Jasper Nease, 21, McRoberts, Ky., on an armed robbery charge and fixed his punishment at death in the electric chair.

Nease was the first of three soldiers scheduled for trial here on armed robbery charges in connection with the slaying of Vernon Hodge, 26, Louisville ex-paratrooper, last March 14.

Taft Sees No Ban On Health Funds

WASHINGTON, May 19 — (AP) — Abondonment of an outright ban on union health and welfare funds was forecast today by Senate and House conferees on the union curbs bill.

But Chairman Hartley (R-N.J.), of the House conferees, told newsmen that "the House leadership wants me to be pretty tough" and he predicted that some other provisions voted by the House but not the Senate would go into the bill in the end.

The form of the final version remained completely uncertain, however. The conference committee, holding its second get-together, met for two and a half hours and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) reported that "no final decisions on anything" were reached.

Taft, chairman of the Senate conferees, predicted that the outright ban on all union health and welfare funds financed by employers, which the House voted, would be dropped in favor of a Senate provision which would bar those administered solely by unions but permit those directed jointly by union and employer. In that category, the fund which John L. Lewis seeks continued in the soft coal industry would be permissible.

Postal Hikes Urged

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — A hike from five to six cents an ounce for air mail and increased charges for parcel post were recommended today by the House Post Office Committee.

May Denies Entering Conspiracy To Defraud

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—A denial that he ever "entered into a conspiracy with anybody to defraud my country" came today from Andrew J. May, former Kentucky congressman, at his war bribe trial.

"I never thought of such a thing," May exclaimed.

The 72-year-old former House Military Committee chairman gripped the arms of the witness chair so hard that his hands paled.

May is charged with taking $55,-000 in wartime bribes from munitions makers Henry and Murray Garsson, leaders of a $78,000,000 arms combine. The Garsson brothers are on trial, too, charged with bribe conspiracy.

Cigaret Ban Causes Stir

BERLIN, May 19 (AP)—The United States Army's ban on the private importation of American cigarets into Germany caused a stir tonight in Berlin, where, said Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, these importations have reached a total of 6,000,000 cigarets a month.

Congress Unlikely To Act This Session On Medical Aid Plan Asked By Truman

President Requests Federal Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — President Truman appealed to Congress today for a start, at least, on a broad medical aid plan including nationwide health insurance but leaders of both parties judged nothing would come of it at this session.

The President called for a national health and disability insurance system, more free public health services, and federal aid to provide more hospitals and doctors in areas where there are not enough.

Sen. Murray (D-Mont.) announced that he will introduce tomorrow a new version of the so-called Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill which died last session. It would provide for a compulsory federal health insurance program financed by a payroll tax, similar to the Social Security taxes.

Voluntary Health Insurance Bill

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and others already are sponsoring a measure which would encourage voluntary health insurance programs by states, but not a federal system, and provide health assistance grants to states. Taft said the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, which he heads, will begin hearings on it in about a week.

But Taft and Sen. Lucas (Ill.), the Democratic whip, agreed that the prospects for passage of any health bill at this session are virtually nil. The Republican leadership is planning on a July 31 adjournnant and much work still remains.

Mr. Truman's message, completed at Grandview, Mo., over the weekend and sent to the Capitol today, urged "a national health insurance program" which would provide money to all persons covered by it for two purposes:

Pays Hospital, Doctor, Dentist

1. To pay their necessary hospital and doctor bills (and dentist bills too).

2. To reimburse them, at least in part, for earnings lost by "illness or disability not connected with their work."

The message indicated that the President wants all men, women and children in the country to be assured of "needed medical attention" by the insurance plan. But he left to Congress the details as to just who would pay the premiums, and how much should be contributed directly by those paying the premiums and how much by the Federal Treasury.

Five Die In Crash Of U. S. Army Plane Near Windsor, Ont.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 19 (AP)—Five persons were reported killed tonight when a twin-engined Army C-45 plane crashed and burned in a field near here during a driving rainstorm.

Windsor police said parts of five bodies had been recovered and the extent of the wreckage indicated there could have been no survivors.

Authorities said the plane was believed en route from Wright Field, near Dayton, Ohio, to Selfridge Field, near Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Anti-Censorship Proposals Made

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Far-reaching suggestions by the United States, Britain and France for eliminating censorship and for the free exchange of news around the globe went before the United Nations Subcommission on Freedom of Information and of the Press today at its first meeting.

The subcommission convened to arrange for a world conference on freedom of information, possibly next year. Dr. G. J. Van Heuven Goedhart, former underground editor of the Netherlands newspaper Het Parool, Amsterdam, and now its chief editor, was unanimously named president.

Members from Soviet Russia, the United States, and China were present; the elected members from France and Britain sent representatives.

Italy Applies For Membership

LAKE SUCCESS N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Italy presented a formal petition today for membership in the United Nations.

The first application from a major Axis partner in the recent war was handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Alberto Tarchiani, Italian Ambassador to Washington.

Thomas Committee Is Denounced By Wallace

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace, former Secretary of Commerce, tonight called the Thomas congressional committee investigating un-American activities a "group of bigots" and charged that "no one who dares praise Willkie's vision of one world is safe from attack."

In an address prepared for delivery before a mass meeting in Gilmore Stadium, Wallace declared:

"I am not afraid of Communism. If I fail to cry out that I am anti-Communist, it is not because I am friendly to communism, but because at this time of growing intolerance I refuse to join even the outer circle of that band of men who stir the steaming cauldron of hatred and fear."

Ordered To Bail Out

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — An Army pilot, unable to land his plane at Mitchel Field, was ordered to head the ship out to sea and bail out, the Coast Guard said tonight in reporting that it had started a search for the airman.

Secret Rocket Weapon

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Army will fire a secret rocket weapon at the White Sands, N. M., proving ground this week, but it declined today even to name its new roaring baby.

Truman Says Co-operation Is Key To Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — President Truman told the Daughters of the American Revolution tonight that "the security of the United States depends to a considerable degree on how well we succeed in fostering co-operation among people as well as among governments."

In a message read at the D.A.R.'s 56th Continental Congress, the President said:

"Co-operation is the cornerstone of our foreign policy."

Supreme Court Tosses Out Contempt Convictions Against Three Newsmen

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court said today that judges may not use contempt proceedings to protect themselves from criticism and overturned a Texas judge's conviction against three newspapermen.

"The law of contempt is not made for the protection of judges who may be sensitive to the winds of public opinion," wrote Justice Douglas for the majority in the 6 to 3 ruling. "Judges are supposed to be men of fortitude, able to thrive in a hardy climate."

The decision upset three-day jail sentences imposed upon Conway C. Craig, publisher; Bob McCracken, managing editor, and Tom Mulvany, reporter, of the Corpus Christi (Tex.) Caller-Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld unionization of industrial plant guards in the same labor organizations that represent production workers.

It held also that partial militarization of the guards in wartime, and the fact that they may be deputized law officers in peacetime, makes no difference in their status as employes.

The ruling came in two parts, with the court split in both cases. Justice Murphy wrote both majority opinions.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision which upheld the right of the Federal Coal Mines Administrator to make a contract with John L. Lewis' supervisory workers union.

The contract covered 136 employes of four Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation mines in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, Pa. It was to be effective during the period of government operation of soft coal mines, expiring on June 30.

Apparent U. S. Monopoly Of Atomic Energy Is "Illusion," Gromyko Says

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Andrei A. Gromyko, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, declared tonight that the apparent United States monopoly of atomic energy production was "an illusion."

Gromyko, Russia's representative on the United Nations Security Council, warned that the United States might find itself in a "less favorable position" unless atomic weapons are outlawed by prompt United Nations action.

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual dinner of the American Russian Institute, Gromyko said:

"The tendency to secure this monopoly for one country inevitably causes rivalry among nations in this field. The use of atomic energy for military purposes by any one country inevitably brings about similar actions on the part of other states. All of this cannot but cause mutual suspicion among nations and cannot but impede the development and strengthening of friendly relations among them and mutual confidence among the United Nations."

Gromyko said no one could deny that prohibition of atomic weapons "under present conditions" would mean greater sacrifices for the United States than by any other country, "but it is beyond any doubt that the position of monopoly for one country in this field is of a temporary character."

"Who knows?" he continued. "The time may come when the country, at present occupying a more favorable position in this respect than other nations, will find itself in the same, or maybe even in a less favorable position in comparison with other states in the field of the development and perfection of certain dangerous kinds of weapons if such weapons are not prohibited."

Racial Issues Are Ruled Out In Lynch Trial

Judge Gives Warning To Defense Council

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 19—(AP)—Circuit Court Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., late today told defense council "I'm not going to allow racial issues" in arguments for acquittal of 28 white defendants charged in the lynch-murder of a South Carolina negro.

"There has been entirely too much said about Willie Earle," he declared, "and not enough about T. W. Brown, the slain taxi driver."

The judge said: "There is not going to be any discussion."

Wofford retorted: "If there isn't any it certainly won't be my fault."

"Well," replied the judge tartly. "It certainly is going to be mine."

Wofford and Defense Attorney Benjamin A. Bolt argued that a large number of incriminating statements made by the defendants mentioned the negro's alleged confession and contended: "We are entitled to argue anything that's in the record."

Acquittal Of Three Ordered

Bolt also told the court that on the principal count of the indictment — murder — the defense would not ask a diminishing degree of guilt, and declared: "It's murder or nothing."

Court will convene at 9:30 a. m. (EST) tomorrow for final arguments.

Defense Attorney Benjamin A. Bolt closed the case dramatically after Circuit Judge J. Robert Martin, Jr., had directed acquittal for three of an original 31 defendants, and granted qualified acquittal on two out of four counts for another seven. Moreover, the court announced, incriminating statements allegedly made by 26 defendants at the time of their arrest will be admitted in evidence only against the persons making them.

Naval Officer "Mistreated" U. S. Prisoners

Court-Martial Under Way For Two Months

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Navy announced today that "maltreatment" of fellow Americans in a Japanese prison camp where he was senior officer is the basic charge against Lt. Comdr. Edward N. Little, of Decatur, Ill., in a secret court-martial going on here for the last two months.

The fact that Little is on trial on unspecified charges before a closed court was all that the Navy had said about the case before. The meager details were given out after dispatches from Tokyo reported that affidavits were being taken from naval personnel there for use at the trial.

Charges, the Navy said, are based on "allegations concerning his conduct toward his fellow prisoners." The three major complaints were listed as:

Maltreatment of a person subject to his orders; conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Tokyo Dispatches Cited

At first the Navy announced Monrovia, Calif., as Little's address but later said a re-check of files showed Decatur, Ill., as a more recent address.

No details appeared in the Navy statement but Tokyo dispatches said Capt. Isao Fukuhara, commander of the Japanese Camp 17-B at Omuta, Fukuoka, on Kyushu, told a military court in February, 1946, that a Lt. E. N. Little had requested punishment of a fellow prisoner for stealing bread.

Allied headquarters in Tokyo identified the court-martial defendant, then a lieutenant, as having been mess officer at that camp.

Fukuhara, testifying in his own defense against charges of atrocities, said Little was in charge of the kitchen and was responsible for preventing pilfering and punishing offenders.

The camp commander named the prisoner punished for stealing bread as Pvt. William H. Knight, of Warsaw, N. Y., and said he was put in the guardhouse.

An affidavit from another witness, introduced in Fukuhara's trial later, said Knight died of torture in the guardhouse, but did not say whether it was on the occasion when he was jailed over the bread.

Awarded Silver Star

Alva C. Carpenter, chief of the Allied Headquarters Legal Section in Tokyo, said affidavits from a number of former prisoners, saying Little had turned them over to Japanese guards for punishment, have been forwarded to Washington.

The Navy said its personnel files show Little is 39 years old, appointed to the Naval Academy from Illinois in 1926 after service as an enlisted man, captain of the academy rifle team in 1929, graduated in 1930.

Little was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action before the fall of the Philippines where he was stationed in the Navy yard at Cavite. He was captured at Corregidor.

The files also show, the Navy reported, that after his release from the Japanese prison camp in October, 1945, Little was on leave at the naval hospital in Oakland, Calif., until January 24, 1946.

Truman's Mother Slightly Improved

President's Daughter Reaches Kansas City

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 19 (AP) — President Truman's 94-year-old mother, gravely ill at her home here, was reported slightly better late tonight, as the Chief Executive sought a night's sleep in nearby Kansas City.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, after a talk with Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's personal physician, at 10:30 p. m. (EST), told reporters Mrs. Martha E. Truman was "somewhat better" after seeing Margaret, the President's daughter, who flew in earlier in the day.

Ross said the elder Mrs. Truman's temperature at that time was 98.4, virtually normal. Her pulse was regular and her tired heart was acting "fairly regularly," he added.

Miss Magaret Truman, the President's daughter, flew into Kansas City late this afternoon from Pittsburgh where she had cancelled a professional singing concert tomorrow night to be with her grandmother.

Sleeping "More and More"

Ross told the reporters at Kansas City after a telephone conversation with Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, the president's personal physician:

"Gen. Graham said Mrs. Truman seems a little stronger at the moment, but there has been a general weakening in her condition. She is sleeping more and more."

The thin, courageous little woman fought against the seemingly overwhelming odds of a "very tired and weak heart," but she maintained a cheerful manner even though she failed to rally from last night's setback.

Meanwhile, Margaret Truman joined her father at her grandmother's modest frame bungalow here. She had become alarmed in Pittsburgh over reports on the elder Mrs. Truman's condition and cancelling concerts there and in Cleveland, flew to Kansas City, 17 miles from Grandview.

Greeted At Airport

She was greeted at the airport by Maj. T. J. Stricker, husband of Miss Truman's voice teacher, and Mrs. Frank Wallace, an aunt. They drove directly to Grandview in a Secret Service car.

Her mother, Mrs. Bess Truman, plans to leave Washington tomorrow for Kansas City.

The President, maintaining his vigil at his mother's home, was to decide later whether to drive to the Kansas City Muehlebach Hotel to spend the night as usual.

Despite her weakened condition, Ross said, Mrs. Truman is receiving no heart stimulants or opiates.

WE, Union Split By Three Issues

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—Negotiators failed again tonight to end the last big dispute blocking nationwide peace in the telephone industry and the talks were recessed until 9 a. m., E. S. T., tomorrow.

Conciliators said three issues remained to be determined between the Western Electric Company and a union representing 20,000 installation workers.

As a result of this dispute, picket lines were reassembled around major telephone exchanges across the nation today, curtailing service again in some areas.

President Ernest Weaver, of the installation union—the Association of Communications Equipment Workers—told reporters that the pickets would be on the job again tomorrow.

The ACEW was virtually the last holdout among the 39 affiliates of the National Federation of Telephone Workers which had walked out last April 7.

The three issues which still remained in deadlock were not divulged.

Md. Strike Date Undecided

BALTIMORE, May 19. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Weiss, president of the Maryland Telephone Traffic Union, said today it was still undecided whether the state's operators will go on strike.

She said results of Saturday night's strike vote would not be announced until sometime tomorrow.

The switchboard operators quit their jobs for about two hours Saturday to attend meetings for a poll on a possible strike.

The operators, numbering approximately 4,200, are seeking a $4 raise. The company has offered $3. Their present salaries range from $28 to $42 weekly.

Jap Premier Submits Cabinet's Resignation

TOKYO, Tuesday, May 20 (AP)—Conservative Premier Shigeru Yoshida submitted the formal resignation of his cabinet to Emperor Hirohito this morning, while political leaders sought to clear final barriers to the appointment of Japan's first Socialist premier.

Yoshida and his ministers will remain in office until the new premier is recommended by the Diet, probably within a day or two. Tetsu Katayama, chairmen of the Social Democratic (socialist) Party central committee seemed certain to receive the post.

Snyder Sees Tax Cut But Is Silent On How Or When

Knutson Says Time For Slash "Here Now"

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told Congress today "a period of tax reduction is approaching," indicating that the administration, which has opposed tax slashing now, will approve a later easing of the tax load, possibly in 1948.

However, President Truman's chief fiscal spokesman gave no hint whether the executive intends to veto the Republican-backed $4,000-000,000 current income tax cut now pending in Congress.

Makes No Recommendations

Neither did he make specific recommendations for tax reductions in the future. He told the House Ways and Means Committee the first requisite of a sound tax system "is that it should produce adequate revenue to balance the budget and to provide a substantial payment on the public debt."

He endorsed the committee decision to "modernize the federal tax structure, as the tax-framing group opened hearings on means of "streamlining" tax statutes for the first time in 20 years. This legislation, which is distinct from the current tax cut bill, will be written next year.

Snyder's statement that "a period of tax reduction is approaching" drew immediate comment from Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. Knutson, author of the current $4,-000,000,000 slash passed by the House and now before the senate, declared:

"The time for tax reduction is here now, and has been here for months."

Long-Range Inquiry Opens

As the long-range inquiry got underway, Senate Republicans prepared for a quick showdown on the current $4,000,000,000 cut, ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest individual income bracket down to 10.5 per cent at the highest income levels.

Senate Democrats are standing solidly for postponement of action on any tax cut until mid-June, when they contend Congress will have a better slant on how much the Republicans are able to cut President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget.

Soldier Is Given Death For Armed Robbery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. May 19 (AP)—A criminal court jury late today convicted Jasper Nease, 21, McRoberts, Ky., on an armed robbery charge and fixed his punishment at death in the electric chair.

Nease was the first of three soldiers scheduled for trial here on armed robbery charges in connection with the slaying of Vernon Hodge, 26, Louisville ex-paratrooper, last March 14.

May Denies Entering Conspiracy To Defraud

WASHINGTON, May 19. (AP)—A denial that he ever "entered into a conspiracy with anybody to defraud my country" came today from Andrew J. May, former Kentucky congressman, at his war bribe trial.

"I never thought of such a thing," May exclaimed.

The 72-year-old former House Military Committee chairman gripped the arms of the witness chair so hard that his hands paled.

May is charged with taking $55,-000 in wartime bribes from munitions makers Henry and Murray Garsson, leaders of a $78,000,000 arms combine. The Garsson brothers are on trial, too, charged with bribe conspiracy.

Cigaret Ban Causes Stir

BERLIN, May 19 (AP)—The United States Army's ban on the private importation of American cigarets into Germany caused a stir tonight in Berlin, where, said Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Governor, these importations have reached a total of 6,000,000 cigarets a month.

Five Die In Crash Of U. S. Army Plane Near Windsor, Ont.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 19 (AP)—Five persons were reported killed tonight when a twin-engined Army C-45 plane crashed and burned in a field near here during a driving rainstorm.

Windsor police said parts of five bodies had been recovered and the extent of the wreckage indicated there could have been no survivors.

Authorities said the plane was believed en route from Wright Field, near Dayton, Ohio, to Selfridge Field, near Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Congress Unlikely To Act This Session On Medical Aid Plan Asked By Truman

President Requests Federal Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — President Truman appealed to Congress today for a start, at least, on a broad medical aid plan including nationwide health insurance but leaders of both parties judged nothing would come of it at this session.

The President called for a national health and disability insurance system, more free public health services, and federal aid to provide more hospitals and doctors in areas where there are not enough.

Sen. Murray (D-Mont.) announced that he will introduce tomorrow a new version of the so-called Murray-Wagner-Dingell bill which died last session. It would provide for a compulsory federal health insurance program financed by a payroll tax, similar to the Social Security taxes.

Voluntary Health Insurance Bill

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and others already are sponsoring a measure which would encourage voluntary health insurance programs by states, but not a federal system, and provide health assistance grants to states. Taft said the Labor and Public Welfare Committee, which he heads, will begin hearings on it in about a week.

But Taft and Sen. Lucas (Ill.), the Democratic whip, agreed that the prospects for passage of any health bill at this session are virtually nil. The Republican leadership is planning on a July 31 adjournnant and much work still remains.

Mr. Truman's message, completed at Grandview, Mo., over the weekend and sent to the Capitol today, urged "a national health insurance program" which would provide money to all persons covered by it for two purposes:

Pays Hospital, Doctor, Dentist

1. To pay their necessary hospital and doctor bills (and dentist bills too).

2. To reimburse them, at least in part, for earnings lost by "illness or disability not connected with their work."

The message indicated that the President wants all men, women and children in the country to be assured of "needed medical attention" by the insurance plan. But he left to Congress the details as to just who would pay the premiums, and how much should be contributed directly by those paying the premiums and how much by the Federal Treasury.

Anti-Censorship Proposals Made

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Far-reaching suggestions by the United States, Britain and France for eliminating censorship and for the free exchange of news around the globe went before the United Nations Subcommission on Freedom of Information and of the Press today at its first meeting.

The subcommission convened to arrange for a world conference on freedom of information, possibly next year. Dr. G. J. Van Heuven Goedhart, former underground editor of the Netherlands newspaper Het Parool, Amsterdam, and now its chief editor, was unanimously named president.

Members from Soviet Russia, the United States, and China were present; the elected members from France and Britain sent representatives.

Italy Applies For Membership

LAKE SUCCESS N. Y., May 19 (AP)—Italy presented a formal petition today for membership in the United Nations.

The first application from a major Axis partner in the recent war was handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Alberto Tarchiani, Italian Ambassador to Washington.

Thomas Committee Is Denounced By Wallace

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP) — Henry A. Wallace, former Secretary of Commerce, tonight called the Thomas congressional committee investigating un-American activities a "group of bigots" and charged that "no one who dares praise Willkie's vision of one world is safe from attack."

In an address prepared for delivery before a mass meeting in Gilmore Stadium, Wallace declared:

"I am not afraid of Communism. If I fail to cry out that I am anti-Communist, it is not because I am friendly to communism, but because at this time of growing intolerance I refuse to join even the outer circle of that band of men who stir the steaming cauldron of hatred and fear."

Secret Rocket Weapon

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Army will fire a secret rocket weapon at the White Sands, N. M., proving ground this week, but it declined today even to name its new roaring baby.

Postal Hikes Urged

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — A hike from five to six cents an ounce for air mail and increased charges for parcel post were recommended today by the House Post Office Committee.

Taft Sees No Ban On Health Funds

WASHINGTON, May 19 — (AP) — Abondonment of an outright ban on union health and welfare funds was forecast today by Senate and House conferees on the union curbs bill.

But Chairman Hartley (R-N.J.), of the House conferees, told newsmen that "the House leadership wants me to be pretty tough" and he predicted that some other provisions voted by the House but not the Senate would go into the bill in the end.

The form of the final version remained completely uncertain, however. The conference committee, holding its second get-together, met for two and a half hours and Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) reported that "no final decisions on anything" were reached.

Taft, chairman of the Senate conferees, predicted that the outright ban on all union health and welfare funds financed by employers, which the House voted, would be dropped in favor of a Senate provision which would bar those administered solely by unions but permit those directed jointly by union and employer. In that category, the fund which John L. Lewis seeks continued in the soft coal industry would be permissible.

Truman Says Co-operation Is Key To Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP) — President Truman told the Daughters of the American Revolution tonight that "the security of the United States depends to a considerable degree on how well we succeed in fostering co-operation among people as well as among governments."

In a message read at the D.A.R.'s 56th Continental Congress, the President said:

"Co-operation is the cornerstone of our foreign policy."

Supreme Court Tosses Out Contempt Convictions Against Three Newsmen

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court said today that judges may not use contempt proceedings to protect themselves from criticism and overturned a Texas judge's conviction against three newspapermen.

"The law of contempt is not made for the protection of judges who may be sensitive to the winds of public opinion," wrote Justice Douglas for the majority in the 6 to 3 ruling. "Judges are supposed to be men of fortitude, able to thrive in a hardy climate."

The decision upset three-day jail sentences imposed upon Conway C. Craig, publisher; Bob McCracken, managing editor, and Tom Mulvany, reporter, of the Corpus Christi (Tex.) Caller-Times.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today upheld unionization of industrial plant guards in the same labor organizations that represent production workers.

It held also that partial militarization of the guards in wartime, and the fact that they may be deputized law officers in peacetime, makes no difference in their status as employes.

The ruling came in two parts, with the court split in both cases. Justice Murphy wrote both majority opinions.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review a decision which upheld the right of the Federal Coal Mines Administrator to make a contract with John L. Lewis' supervisory workers union.

The contract covered 136 employes of four Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation mines in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, Pa. It was to be effective during the period of government operation of soft coal mines, expiring on June 30.

Apparent U. S. Monopoly Of Atomic Energy Is "Illusion," Gromyko Says

NEW YORK, May 19. (AP)—Andrei A. Gromyko, Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister, declared tonight that the apparent United States monopoly of atomic energy production was "an illusion."

Gromyko, Russia's representative on the United Nations Security Council, warned that the United States might find itself in a "less favorable position" unless atomic weapons are outlawed by prompt United Nations action.

In an address prepared for delivery at the annual dinner of the American Russian Institute, Gromyko said:

"The tendency to secure this monopoly for one country inevitably causes rivalry among nations in this field. The use of atomic energy for military purposes by any one country inevitably brings about similar actions on the part of other states. All of this cannot but cause mutual suspicion among nations and cannot but impede the development and strengthening of friendly relations among them and mutual confidence among the United Nations."

Gromyko said no one could deny that prohibition of atomic weapons "under present conditions" would mean greater sacrifices for the United States than by any other country, "but it is beyond any doubt that the position of monopoly for one country in this field is of a temporary character."

"Who knows?" he continued. "The time may come when the country, at present occupying a more favorable position in this respect than other nations, will find itself in the same, or maybe even in a less favorable position in comparison with other states in the field of the development and perfection of certain dangerous kinds of weapons if such weapons are not prohibited."

$24,800 Raised For New Factory

FROSTBURG, May 19—Ten of the 13 soliciting teams appointed two months ago by the Frostburg Business Association to raise $80,000 to aid in the erection of a new factory for the Michael Berkowitz Company, which has been operating here for 30 years, reported at a meeting in City Hall tonight that pledges to totaling $24,800 have been received so far.

It is estimated that the three teams which have not yet reported will secure $10,000 in pledges, and that the 200 employes of the company, which maunfactures pajamas and men's shirts, will pledge another $10,000, bringing the estimated total up to $44,800. Only business concerns are being solicited.

Some Cumberland concerns which have offered to subscribe to the project will be canvassed soon, it was stated. The next report meeting will be held Monday, May 26, at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

Elias, chairman of the association's drive, and G. Kear Hosken, $2,500; Mayor Marshall Skidmore and Charles N. Hill, $1,800; Gerald Groves and Ralph M. Race, $1,000; William Dolder and Jesse Jacobs, and Walter Jeffries and Ira Langeluttig, $700 by both teams; Frank T. Powers and Carmel Pinto, $500; and Harry B. Shupe and Herbert Loar, $200.

He was arrested Sunday on Route 35 at Ellerslie. Trooper G. M. Rotruck made the four arrests.

Cumberland Gets Naval Staging Depot

Announcement was made over the weekend by Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Naval Reserve Division, that the division has been designated by the Fifth Naval District as a training staging division to process V-6 volunteer reservists who will take training cruises aboard Navy warships.

All reservists in the area between Elkins, W. Va., and Hagerstown will be processed through the naval division here, Comdr. Hedrick said. This will consist of physical examinations, inoculations, supply of uniforms, issuance of transportation and order. Dr. Richard J. Williams, commander, Medical Corps, USNR, will be the examining physician.

The reservists will be sent from Cumberland to Norfolk, Va., to go on the cruises which are for a week or more.

Appointment of Lt. Leon M. Morris, of Central YMCA, as communications officer for the Cumberland Naval Division, was announced by Comdr. Hedrick.

Measure Repealing Ditch Requirements Tabled

Following a protest by F. Patrick Allender, business agent for the Carpenters Union, Mayor Thomas S. Post suggested yesterday that the proposed ordinance eliminating the shoring requirement of ditches 4 feet or more in depth be tabled for a week.

The proposed ordinance called for repeal of a section of a 1922 law which required that shoring regulations should be part of a contract when city work is let.

Pointing out that Army Engineers require shoring when a ditch is more than 4 feet deep, Allender stated that without a definite requirement some contractors in bidding might not allow for protection.

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, who had proposed elimination of shoring requirements in connection with the construction of a second water line from Lake Gordon to the city, said the water line ditch will be dug by machines and that only 16 feet will be open at one time. He maintained there is less chance of a ditch slipping with a relatively small opening, and estimated that between 20 and 40 per cent of the cost of the job will be saved if shoring provisions are abolished.

Mattingly Posts Bond

Leonard F. Mattingly, 707 Shriver Avenue, posted bond of $10 yesterday morning for a hearing in Police Court on a careless driving charge. He was arrested Sunday night at his home by Officer J. Carl Stouffer.

Police said Mattingly, allegedly traveling at a fast rate of speed, tried to "outdistance and outmaneuver" a cruiser car.

Norval W. Twigg, Route 1, Oldtown, was fined $5 yesterday on charges of passing a school bus while it was parked.

Accused Slayer's Family Learns Of Murder Case

Stillman Snow Smith, about 50, held in the county jail on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Goldie Smith, 16, near their home on Town Creek, April 17, is the father of four grown children by his common law wife in Virginia, county authorities said yesterday.

Following newspaper accounts and radio reports of the shooting, the sheriff's office received an inquiry from a Baltimore man asking if Smith were his father. The description tallied with that of the accused slayer, the sheriff's office said, but he denied having raised a family in Virginia.

Later, however, he admitted having a common law wife in Virginia and identified her as Frances Jenkins. He said he lived with her for a number of years and that he is the father of her four children.

The four children and his common law wife visited Smith at Memorial Hospital while he was recovering from an alleged suicide attempt after shooting his wife, authorities said. One of Smith's children said his father and mother separated 17 years ago.

Judge Mish Views Dairy Dispute

Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, of Hagerstown, withheld decision following a lengthy hearing Saturday in Circuit Court here, in another phase of the litigation over control of the Queen City Dairy. The hearing ended Saturday afternoon with five local attorneys participating.

The latest action was filed by John H. Stiffler, former manager of the dairy; Clarence U. Llewellyn and Harvey England, former directors, against the following stockholders: Harmon R. Simons, Mabel A. White, J. William Loar, George W. Stafford, Helen M. Stegmaier, Mary E. Helmick, S. A. Knippenberg H. S. Grabenstein and C. R. Armstrong.

The petitioners claim that $20,000 which had been earmarked for payment of federal income taxes had been "illegally distributed" as a dividend to stockholders.

The defendants contended the dividend was proper, and that if the money had not been distributed at least $15,000 would have been taken by the government in taxes on surplus.

National B.P.O.E. Backs Army Recruiting Drive

Marcellus Mullan, Exalted Ruler of Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, has announced that the Elks National Veterans Service Commission is cooperating with the War Department in its campaign to recruit young men who will graduate from high school this year for military service. Thirty thousand enlistments are required each month to maintain the Army at a standard that is considered necessary for national defense.

The seniors graduating this year will be the first class since 1940 that will have the opportunity to enter army service on a volunteer basis and the number of these graduates who enlist will be a factor in the solution of the problem of military manpower which has been complicated by the ending of Selective Service.

Woman Gets Grand Results Eating Famous Breakfast Cereal

Have you despaired of ever being "regular" again? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"I had to take a laxative all the time—couldn't seem to live without it. I think it is the grandest cereal on the market." Mrs. Lida Gouge, 4020 Nichols Ave., S.W., Washington 20, D. C.

You, too, may expect lasting results if your constipation is due to lack of bulk in the diet . . . simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day—and drink plenty of water. Try it! If not completely satisfied with the results after 10 days, send the empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan, and get double your money back!

Union Leaders Views On Portal-Pay Bill Did Not Pay

The violent and intemperate manner in which union leaders have assailed any change in the labor laws, even the slightest, probably has hurt their cause. It seems to be one of the chief reasons why the labor bill went through both houses of Congress by better than 2 to 1 margins.

As an example, there was wide division of opinion even within the ranks of organized labor over the wisdom and fairness of the flood of portal-to-portal suits. Some American Federation of Labor leaders openly opposed them. So did some local unions.

Yet Philip Murray, CIO head, charged that the bill to outlaw the claims represented "all the hatred of the working man and wage earner, all the hatred of social progress and decent living standards, which has unfortunately characterized so many members of this Congress.

Nothing of the kind was involved. And President Truman refused to be stampeded by Mr. Murray's exaggerations and observed calmly that he was confident that Congress had not sought to permit violation or lowering of the fundamental wage-and-hour standards. If the new law should hurt those standards, he said, he would ask Congress to correct it.

In signing the portal-pay measure, Mr. Truman renewed a request which this newspaper thinks should be given full consideration: That benefits of the Wage-Hour Act be extended to more workers and that its present requirement be raised to 65 cents.

Rumors are afloat—untrue, we hope—that the signing of the portal-to-portal measure is part of a political double play. The President, according to these reports, has been advised that it would be safer and less unpopular for him to veto the labor bill soon to reach him if, first, he has approved this other measure opposed by union leaders.

We do not think Mr. Truman is the man likely to follow such advice, if it has been given. It must be believed he signed the portal-to-portal pay bill for the reasons he gave—that it is needed and is safe. It would be disappointing to the country, if he should judge the labor bill by any other test in order to serve his own political advantage.

Republican leaders, we believe, are sincere in their desire to present President Truman with a fair and adequate labor bill. They have no intention of presenting one which might be looked upon as punitive, but hope, and believe they can bring about a sensible compromise of the House and Senate Bills to a degree the President will find impossible to veto.

Thousands of men and women in service uniforms, including commissioned officers, paraded in New York's communist May Day celebration, pictures taken by order of the House Committee on Un-American Activities disclose. That should start a new smear campaign against the committee.

Prospect Not So Gloomy Successful American Finds

A letter, written by a successful American who has spent lifetime knocking around the world and who has lived through too many crises to be appalled by the present one, has come to our attention. In such times, when gloom is the dominant note with most of our heavy thinkers, it is stimulating to read the views of this informed optimist.

Looking first toward the efforts of General MacArthur to democratize Japan, then to the prospective application of the Truman Doctrine in Greece and the Balkans, he writes:

"A genuinely prosperous Japan, thoroughly sold on democratic-capitalism in consequence, will be the greatest asset for peace we can hope to gain out of this immediate postwar situation. No soundly functioning democratic-capitalistic country will fall for Communism . . . none ever has.

"Russia certainly never at any time had real capitalism and 80 per cent of its population at no time ever had any contact with anything that remotely resembled progressive capitalism as we understand the term in the United States. If Japan could be really established on that basis it would easily be the vital element for peace in the world to come.

"The same thing holds true for Greece and the Balkans. Capitalism . . . and of course they have no real concept of democracy at all . . . has never progressed further than late medievalism in the whole area south of Hungary.

"If we went into Greece with the dominant aim of creating a democracy and soundly reviving or better establishing real capitalism based entirely on the theory of helping the Greeks . . . and if we could succeed in doing it . . . we'd stop Communism throughout the Balkans in its tracks.

"The people are Communists or go Communist because they want things . . . seeds, bridges, roads, sewers . . . and goods in the little crossroads stores. For over 10 years they have had practically nothing. Get that going and the boys in the hills will race back to get in line and start farming again or tending their goats.

"But the thing has got to be done on the widest possible basis with the little people getting the big end of it. They are the ones that are suffering the most and upon whom the urge to try Communism as a relief from a busted and discredited 'capitalistic' regime rests the sharpest. Greece, like Russia, never really ever met up with capitalism of the sort that we are developing here."

Tire ads which described synthetic tires as better than prewar have been withdrawn by companies which are now advertising white sidewall tires made of natural rubber.

Too Smart?

The question whether the smart financial bellwethers who set stock market trends may not be outsmarting themselves is being asked here and there in financial circles as the New York Stock Market continues to sag, a trend that set in more than a year ago and has resulted in many stocks sinking to one-half or one-third their wartime levels.

An old saw in brokerage offices, still parroted by many habitues, is that the stock market is a barometer of business conditions six months hence. Well, six months ago the stock market was declining. Perhaps the speculators have been double-crossed by business.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PAINFUL FEET

PAIN anywhere is annoying and often disabling. This is particularly true when the feet are involved, because so much of our activity depends upon the well being of these structures. Years ago a famous advertising slogan read: "What's the good of money if your feet hurt?" The implication is only too clear.

Most sufferers are likely to suspect an arch deformity, especially if the parts seem flat. This is not necessarily the case, as appearances are often misleading. Discomfor of this nature seldem results unless there is considerable strain and weakness. Many a soldier with arches as flat as pancakes has been able to trudge out a 25 mile hike without the slightest twinge. The same can be said of athletes who perform tasks equally arduous.

In older persons, poor circulation may be responsible for symptoms suggestive of flat feet, and there are few who have not tried arch supports or special shoes in an attempt to obtain comfort.

But there are other causes for painful "dogs." One is Morton's toe, a strange condition which is prone to occur especially in women whose vanity drives them to buy footgear that is too small. Wearing extremely high heels is probably another factor. The menfolk are not exempt, as addicts of pointed toes have found out.

Gradually the victim develops severe pain over the ball of the foot between the third and fourth toes. This is the most characteristc feature of the disorder and can attack both extremities. Eventually a wider area is affected and occasionally distress spreads up the back of the calf of the leg and may go even as high as the hip. At first it is felt only on walking, but after becoming fully established, aching is present all the time. The victim is bothered more during the summer months, as warmth aggravates the difficulty.

Altho Morton described the malady in 1876, the real cause was not determined until recently. Two different investigators—McElvenny in the United States and Betts in Australia—made the discovery almost simultaneously and without knowledge of the work of the other.

A tumor [neuroma] forms in the nerve leading to the third and fourth toes. This structure is in a strategic spot, lying just beneath the sole and between two bones. In such position it is easily irritated, particularly if the footwear is unsuitable. It is little wonder that pain is intense, although if the fibers are damaged sufficiently numbness ensues.

The disturbance can be rectified early in the disease by removing irritation thru the use of properly fitted shoes. Felt or rubber supports on the inside of a leather bar on the outside of the sole will also be helpful. But when the tumor is well established and large enough to be troublesome, operation will be needed. After surgery, relief is dramatic in practically all cases.

SCANTY BEARD

J. G. writes: What dangers were there connected with the old Indian practice of pulling out their whiskers?

REPLY

Probably no more than the modern method of tweezing the eyebrows. Indians have very little beard, so that a large area is not involved.

DISCOLORATION

J. K. writes: What causes greenish stools in an infant?

REPLY

This is usually a variation of normal, especially in the artificially fed baby. The color is determined mainly by the diet and the state of the digestive tract.

PANCREATIC DISORDERS

W. E. writes: Can the pancreas be affected by any other diseases besides diabetes?

REPLY

Yes. The two next most common ailments are inflammation and cancer.

THE SALT PROBLEM

Mrs. L. writes: What can be done about members of the family who pour salt on their food before they even taste it? As chief cook and bottle washer I believe I put enough into the food as I prepare it.

REPLY

This is much ado about nothing. Why make yourselfr unhappy over a situation that is usually none of your business? This is why salt shakers were invented. There are people who seem to crave the condiment. Some have low blood pressure; others exhibit undersecretion of the adrenal glands.

APPENDIX STUDIES

C. V. Writes: How is chronic appendicitis diagnosed?

REPLY

By physical examination and X-ray. The condition is not common and develops as a rule after several acute attacks. Too often those with persistent distress in the lower right side attribute the symptom to chronic appendicitis. The bowel-however, is more likely to be the culprit and removal of the appendix will not afford relief.

COLOR BLINDNESS

W. C. writes: Will vitamin A cure color blindness?

REPLY

Probably not. In one series, 12 subjects received 50,000 units daily (a tremendous dose). No improvement was noted in four and in the remainder, only slight changes were observed.

DURATION OF BREAKDOWN

Mrs. N. writes: Hoy long does a nervous breakdown last?

REPLY

This term is used by the laity in describing various disorders. Consequently the outcome depends upon the exact cause as it may last a day or a lifetime. I have seen complete recoveries after a month's vacation.

NO HARDER THAN GETTING A CAMEL THROUGH THE EYE OF A NEEDLE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Europeans Appreciate U. S. Art More Than Some Congressmen; Truman And Biffle's Secretary "Taurus-Twins;" B. & O. Has Senators As Legal Advisors

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In all the sarcastic cross-examination of the State Department's art program, it is interesting that no Congressman ever bothered to inquire about the effectiveness of these art exhibits in building friendship abroad.

Actually, had any Congessman inquired, he would have found that in Prague, Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk personally opened the exhibit with a speech praising American art, while President Benes spent several hours studying the pictures. Apparently they appreciated the State Department's selection, including the fat circus lady, even if the Republican Congressmen from the wide-open spaces of Norfolk, Nebraska or the famous prison-city of Auburn, N. Y., didn't.

In the Western Hemisphere, the art show was equally well received. In Haiti the public streamed to see it. One Cuban art critic said the show demonstrated that the United States was able to contribute to the cultural riches of man as well as to his material riches.

Even before Congress cut his appropriation, Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton, worried over the scowls of Auburn, New York's Congressman Taber, sacrificed LeRoy Davidson, one of the nation's outstanding are collectors, who was in charge of the State Department's art project. Now both Congress and the State Department are being bombarded with protests from leading museums, artists and laymen all over the country, many of whom charge that the attack on modern art is identical with similar moves by totalitarian regimes in Italy and Germany before the war.

Note—President Truman, who thinks no art after 1800 is really worth considering, has hung two paintings in the White House Executive Office lobby referred to by some visitors as "Harry's hideous delight." Truman paid $10,000 of the taxpayer's money for what many considered artistic atrocities. But anyway they aren't modern; so no Congressman is likely to be critical.

Truman's Birthday Friend

When a group of Presidential cronies gathered at the White House to wish their friend a happy 63rd birthday, ex-Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle arrived a trifle late.

"Mr. President," Biffle said, "I've got a note here from my secretary, Betty Kraus, wishing you happy birthday. It's Betty's birthday too, and she's proud to have been born on the same day."

Truman smiled, said nothing. About five minutes later, he excused himself, went into the next room, called Biffle's office, personally thanked Miss Kraus for her thoughtful note, and wished her a happy birthday too.

Two "Impartial" Senators

It looks as if the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is wasting money by hiring lawyers. It seems to have two lawyers in the persons of Senator Capehart of Indiana, the music master, and Senator Willis Robertson of Virginia, who took the place of Carter Glass.

One a Republican, the other a Democrat, both have been acting as defenders of the B. and O. in Senator Toby's probe of the railroad's heavy loans from Jesse Jones' old Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Chairman Tobey of the Senate Banking Committee at first was dubious about the pro-railroad questions asked by Capehart and Robertson. He had reason to be. For it was soon obvious that their questions were being ghost-written by B. and O. men attending the hearing. In fact, there was no secret in Robertson's case. Frederick E. Baukages, B. and O. attorney, openly and brazenly gave the Virginia Senator little slips of paper with jotted questions to ask witnesses.

Capehart has been more discreet. He uses a middle man. One of his office assistants, Dewey Waas, takes the questions from B. and O.'s Baukages in the corridor outside the hearing room and later passes them to the Indiana Senator. Senator Tobey ground his teeth when he discovered what was going on, but said nothing.

However, the New Hampshirite's pent-up rage exploded on Baukages the other day when he interrupted Tobey several times during the cross-examination of a witness.

"You've been making yourself a little too prominent around here," Tobey shot at the B. and O. representative. "Suppose you go over there and sit down—and shut up!"

So Mr. Baukages, who draws $18,500 a year from the B. and O., has now been more silent.

Note—Senator Tobey is interested in the peculiar way the B. and O. gave juicy jobs to RFC officials at the same time it obtained lush RFC loans.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

As the legislative year passes from debate to decision, the Republican lineup for the nomination remains what it has been since the 1944 Convention, Senator Robert A. Taft or Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

This is obvious. There will be nothing like the Willkie Blitz of 1940 at Philadelphia. Every resistance to that type of convention has been developed by state delegations. Philadelphia will be a Republican convention run by Republicans.

Harold Stassen is not taken too seriously, because a man whose only current occupation is candidacy for public office rarely is. His interview with Stalin proved a political dud, for as a competitor of Henry Wallace, Stassen just is not sufficiently wild to count. It is hard to beat Wallace at that game. If Stassen assumed that his physical presence in Moscow during that Conference would add to his stature, he misread the change in the attitude of the American people between the San Francisco and the Moscow Conferences.

Furthermore, Republicans, particularly party professionals, knew that at San Francisco, Stassen was extraordinarily gullible in Russian matters and that it was Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles who established so much leadership that the bi-partisan policy in international relations developed into more than a "me-too" habit. When the Stalin-Stassen interview appeared, the general feeling was that he had done no greater harm than to weaken his own candidacy, which is a personal matter.

John Bricker and Arthur Vandenburg are the so-called "dark horses." Many practical politicians feel that Dewey and Taft are working themselves into a situation where they might kill each other off. The general attitude among those who are likely to be delegates to the Convention seems to be that it is essential at this stage to support both Taft and Dewey; that both are top-notch national leaders. Strongly, it is felt that it would be damaging to the Republican party if their competition for the highest office resulted in one damaging the other, as each is essential to the other and to the Party.

Just as Tom Dewey has gained strength because of his splendid administration of the State of New York, so has Bob Taft been reinforced by his amazingly brilliant leadership in the Senate, which while it looks queer in operation, produces results of a high order. These men are not ordinary competitors. Knowing each of them about as well as a friend can, I am certain that neither would lift a finger to hurt the other.

Tom Dewey is often described as a politcal Machiavelli who applies a frigid mind to every problem and who pulls the carpet from under the feet of his best friend. This is not so. Dewey has built amazingly strong, efficient and loyal organizations both on the administrative and political sides and what is most remarkable is that, with one exception, it has held together throughout his career. No frigid, selfish personality could have accomplished this. Disloyalty begets disloyalty.

Bob Taft is everywhere acknowledged as the keenest mind not only in the Republican party but in the Congress. He is extraordinarily forthright and truthful. It has often been doubted that a man who speaks his mind freely, who will not compromise a principle for an advantage, who gives his opponents every opportunity to undo him, could succeed in politics. Some of his best friends have felt that while Taft would make an unusually competent President, he lacks the finesse of a Talleyrand and therefore could never be elected.

The fact is that whenever Taft has run for office, he has always been elected. The fact is that he got his bill through the Senate by giving Irving Ives and Wayne Morse their head, whereas had he employed the usual political tricks or the forceful methods of a political boss, he would have been defeated. It is now likely that his bill will be accepted by the House. It is even likely that it will be signed by the President. Taft has proven that leadership need not depend upon tricks.

Here are the two men, one of whom may be the Republican condidate for President. Were the Convention today, only these two names would receive serious consideration.

Bevin Shows Little Knowledge About U.S. Or Memory Is Short

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 19—British Foreign Secretary Bevin may be connected with a "liberal" government but he talks more like a reactionary when he says that publicity helped to prevent a successful negotiation of peace treaties at Moscow. He is harking back to the alternative—secret diplomacy—which brings on wars.

When Mr. Bevin says he believes the United States government concurs with his view that the press was a handicap at the Moscow conference, he does not say who in the government here believes as he does. He certainly cannot mean Secretary of State Marshall, who has indicated frequently that he understands the value of an informed public opinion.

Mr. Bevin knows very little about the United States or else he has a short memory. He must have overlooked the fact that a miracle has happened in America—both political parties are joined in policies of international cooperation as never before—and dollars are flowing to bolster weak countries in Europe. If Mr. Bevin thinks bipartisan cooperation can thrive on secrecy or that American interest, for example, in the economic plight of Great Britain can be furthered by a policy of secrecy in governmental affairs, he is 100 per cent wrong.

Secrecy Creates Suspicion

Where there is secrecy, there is suspicion. The policy which President Truman recently asked Congress to approve for helping Greece and Turkey was jeopardized for a while because the administration did not really think through its manner of handling the proposal and didn't inform congressional leaders sufficiently in advance about the background.

The most important factor in helping Congress to see the wisdom of passing the Greek-Turkish bill was the comprehensive reporting of what went on in Moscow. It would have been easy for the old-fashioned type of diplomacy to prevail—for sugar-coated or ambiguously worded communiques, which hid the truth, to be issued. But this would not have kept America informed.

There are lots of people, even in democratic countries, who do not understand a free press or its traditions. Mr. Bevin apparently favors the secrecy method because it permits of deals and shifts behind the scenes. This is precisely what the American people have been led to believe is British "imperialism." It is that kind of maneuvering which has done so much in the past to make Americans unduly suspicious of the British foreign office.

Now there are no members of the press who ever suggested that diplomatic meetings be held in the open with reporters present. It has always been assumed that diplomats would keep their own counsel on matters of great delicacy. But in these days, when governments use propaganda to create impressions that fit in with their diplomatic maneuvers, reporters in foreign posts work harded than ever to separate opinion propaganda from the facts.

Many a public official grows impatient with or is annoyed by publicity when he is in the midst of negotiating an agreement but the real problem nevertheless is to deal with such happenings temperately and tactfully. Certainly reporters do not have access to what goes on day-by-day between foreign offices and their ambassadors. One might ask what is the use of paying for embassies and legations if the men occupying these important posts cannot pave the way in advance for agreements? The fact is that when a big international conference is called it attracts the press and conferences should not be held until there is a certainty in advance that agreement on basic points can be reached. To leave to a large-scale conference the settlement in impromptu fashion of points that might as well have been threshed out long before the conference, is to reveal an ineptitude which even old-fashioned diplomacy usually avoided.

Mr. Bevin and Russia, in particular, ought to be thankful that the Moscow conference and background was as thoroughly reported as it was. Nothing that the pres wrote and evidently nothing that Mr. Bevin could contribute by way of argument in secret altered the Soviet determination not to agree at this time with the democracies on the all-important question of reparations. But it is safe to say that no agreement would be possible in November—and an agreement now is confidently expected—if the Moscow conference had not been so thoroughly reported to the American people. The United States government has a united public opinion behind it in its policies toward Europe and not the least beneficiary of that unity is Great Britain.

Union Leaders Views On Portal-Pay Bill Did Not Pay

The violent and intemperate manner in which union leaders have assailed any change in the labor laws, even the slightest, probably has hurt their cause. It seems to be one of the chief reasons why the labor bill went through both houses of Congress by better than 2 to 1 margins.

As an example, there was wide division of opinion even within the ranks of organized labor over the wisdom and fairness of the flood of portal-to-portal suits. Some American Federation of Labor leaders openly opposed them. So did some local unions.

Yet Philip Murray, CIO head, charged that the bill to outlaw the claims represented "all the hatred of the working man and wage earner, all the hatred of social progress and decent living standards, which has unfortunately characterized so many members of this Congress.

Nothing of the kind was involved. And President Truman refused to be stampeded by Mr. Murray's exaggerations and observed calmly that he was confident that Congress had not sought to permit violation or lowering of the fundamental wage-and-hour standards. If the new law should hurt those standards, he said, he would ask Congress to correct it.

In signing the portal-pay measure, Mr. Truman renewed a request which this newspaper thinks should be given full consideration: That benefits of the Wage-Hour Act be extended to more workers and that its present requirement be raised to 65 cents.

Rumors are afloat—untrue, we hope—that the signing of the portal-to-portal measure is part of a political double play. The President, according to these reports, has been advised that it would be safer and less unpopular for him to veto the labor bill soon to reach him if, first, he has approved this other measure opposed by union leaders.

We do not think Mr. Truman is the man likely to follow such advice, if it has been given. It must be believed he signed the portal-to-portal pay bill for the reasons he gave—that it is needed and is safe. It would be disappointing to the country, if he should judge the labor bill by any other test in order to serve his own political advantage.

Republican leaders, we believe, are sincere in their desire to present President Truman with a fair and adequate labor bill. They have no intention of presenting one which might be looked upon as punitive, but hope, and believe they can bring about a sensible compromise of the House and Senate Bills to a degree the President will find impossible to veto.

Thousands of men and women in service uniforms, including commissioned officers, paraded in New York's communist May Day celebration, pictures taken by order of the House Committee on Un-American Activities disclose. That should start a new smear campaign against the committee.

Prospect Not So Gloomy Successful American Finds

A letter, written by a successful American who has spent lifetime knocking around the world and who has lived through too many crises to be appalled by the present one, has come to our attention. In such times, when gloom is the dominant note with most of our heavy thinkers, it is stimulating to read the views of this informed optimist.

Looking first toward the efforts of General MacArthur to democratize Japan, then to the prospective application of the Truman Doctrine in Greece and the Balkans, he writes:

"A genuinely prosperous Japan, thoroughly sold on democratic-capitalism in consequence, will be the greatest asset for peace we can hope to gain out of this immediate postwar situation. No soundly functioning democratic-capitalistic country will fall for Communism . . . none ever has.

"Russia certainly never at any time had real capitalism and 80 per cent of its population at no time ever had any contact with anything that remotely resembled progressive capitalism as we understand the term in the United States. If Japan could be really established on that basis it would easily be the vital element for peace in the world to come.

"The same thing holds true for Greece and the Balkans. Capitalism . . . and of course they have no real concept of democracy at all . . . has never progressed further than late medievalism in the whole area south of Hungary.

"If we went into Greece with the dominant aim of creating a democracy and soundly reviving or better establishing real capitalism based entirely on the theory of helping the Greeks . . . and if we could succeed in doing it . . . we'd stop Communism throughout the Balkans in its tracks.

"The people are Communists or go Communist because they want things . . . seeds, bridges, roads, sewers . . . and goods in the little crossroads stores. For over 10 years they have had practically nothing. Get that going and the boys in the hills will race back to get in line and start farming again or tending their goats.

"But the thing has got to be done on the widest possible basis with the little people getting the big end of it. They are the ones that are suffering the most and upon whom the urge to try Communism as a relief from a busted and discredited 'capitalistic' regime rests the sharpest. Greece, like Russia, never really ever met up with capitalism of the sort that we are developing here."

Tire ads which described synthetic tires as better than prewar have been withdrawn by companies which are now advertising white sidewall tires made of natural rubber.

Too Smart?

The question whether the smart financial bellwethers who set stock market trends may not be outsmarting themselves is being asked here and there in financial circles as the New York Stock Market continues to sag, a trend that set in more than a year ago and has resulted in many stocks sinking to one-half or one-third their wartime levels.

An old saw in brokerage offices, still parroted by many habitues, is that the stock market is a barometer of business conditions six months hence. Well, six months ago the stock market was declining. Perhaps the speculators have been double-crossed by business.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

PAINFUL FEET

PAIN anywhere is annoying and often disabling. This is particularly true when the feet are involved, because so much of our activity depends upon the well being of these structures. Years ago a famous advertising slogan read: "What's the good of money if your feet hurt?" The implication is only too clear.

Most sufferers are likely to suspect an arch deformity, especially if the parts seem flat. This is not necessarily the case, as appearances are often misleading. Discomfor of this nature seldem results unless there is considerable strain and weakness. Many a soldier with arches as flat as pancakes has been able to trudge out a 25 mile hike without the slightest twinge. The same can be said of athletes who perform tasks equally arduous.

In older persons, poor circulation may be responsible for symptoms suggestive of flat feet, and there are few who have not tried arch supports or special shoes in an attempt to obtain comfort.

But there are other causes for painful "dogs." One is Morton's toe, a strange condition which is prone to occur especially in women whose vanity drives them to buy footgear that is too small. Wearing extremely high heels is probably another factor. The menfolk are not exempt, as addicts of pointed toes have found out.

Gradually the victim develops severe pain over the ball of the foot between the third and fourth toes. This is the most characteristc feature of the disorder and can attack both extremities. Eventually a wider area is affected and occasionally distress spreads up the back of the calf of the leg and may go even as high as the hip. At first it is felt only on walking, but after becoming fully established, aching is present all the time. The victim is bothered more during the summer months, as warmth aggravates the difficulty.

Altho Morton described the malady in 1876, the real cause was not determined until recently. Two different investigators—McElvenny in the United States and Betts in Australia—made the discovery almost simultaneously and without knowledge of the work of the other.

A tumor [neuroma] forms in the nerve leading to the third and fourth toes. This structure is in a strategic spot, lying just beneath the sole and between two bones. In such position it is easily irritated, particularly if the footwear is unsuitable. It is little wonder that pain is intense, although if the fibers are damaged sufficiently numbness ensues.

The disturbance can be rectified early in the disease by removing irritation thru the use of properly fitted shoes. Felt or rubber supports on the inside of a leather bar on the outside of the sole will also be helpful. But when the tumor is well established and large enough to be troublesome, operation will be needed. After surgery, relief is dramatic in practically all cases.

SCANTY BEARD

J. G. writes: What dangers were there connected with the old Indian practice of pulling out their whiskers?

REPLY

Probably no more than the modern method of tweezing the eyebrows. Indians have very little beard, so that a large area is not involved.

DISCOLORATION

J. K. writes: What causes greenish stools in an infant?

REPLY

This is usualily a variation of normal, especially in the artificially fed baby. The color is determined mainly by the diet and the state of the digestive tract.

PANCREATIC DISORDERS

W. E. writes: Can the pancreas be affected by any other diseases besides diabetes?

REPLY

Yes. The two next most common ailments are inflammation and cancer.

THE SALT PROBLEM

Mrs. L. writes: What can be done about members of the family who pour salt on their food before they even taste it? As chief cook and bottle washer I believe I put enough into the food as I prepare it.

REPLY

This is much ado about nothing. Why make yourselfr unhappy over a situation that is usually none of your business? This is why salt shakers were invented. There are people who seem to crave the condiment. Some have low blood pressure; others exhibit undersecretion of the adrenal glands.

APPENDIX STUDIES

C. V. Writes: How is chronic appendicitis diagnosed?

REPLY

By physical examination and X-ray. The condition is not common and develops as a rule after several acute attacks. Too often those with persistent distress in the lower right side attribute the symptom to chronic appendicitis. The bowel however, is more likely to be the culprit and removal of the appendix will not afford relief.

COLOR BLINDNESS

W. C. writes: Will vitamin A cure color blindness?

REPLY

Probably not. In one series, 12 subjects received 50,000 units daily (a tremendous dose). No improvement was noted in four and in the remainder, only slight changes were observed.

DURATION OF BREAKDOWN

Mrs. N. writes: Hoy long does a nervous breakdown last?

REPLY

This term is used by the laity in describing various disorders. Consequently the outcome depends upon the exact cause as it may last a day or a lifetime. I have seen complete recoveries after a month's vacation.

NO HARDER THAN GETTING A CAMEL THROUGH THE EYE OF A NEEDLE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Europeans Appreciate U. S. Art More Than Some Congressmen; Truman And Biffle's Secretary "Taurus-Twins;" B. & O. Has Senators As Legal Advisors

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In all the sarcastic cross-examination of the State Department's art program, it is interesting that no Congressman ever bothered to inquire about the effectiveness of these art exhibits in building friendship abroad.

Actually, had any Congessman inquired, he would have found that in Prague, Czechoslovak Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk personally opened the exhibit with a speech praising American art, while President Benes spent several hours studying the pictures. Apparently they appreciated the State Department's selection, including the fat circus lady, even if the Republican Congressmen from the wide-open spaces of Norfolk, Nebraska or the famous prison-city of Auburn, N. Y., didn't.

In the Western Hemisphere, the art show was equally well received. In Haiti the public streamed to see it. One Cuban art critic said the show demonstrated that the United States was able to contribute to the cultural riches of man as well as to his material riches.

Even before Congress cut his appropriation, Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton, worried over the scowls of Auburn, New York's Congressman Taber, sacrificed LeRoy Davidson, one of the nation's outstanding are collectors, who was in charge of the State Department's art project. Now both Congress and the State Department are being bombarded with protests from leading museums, artists and laymen all over the country, many of whom charge that the attack on modern art is identical with similar moves by totalitarian regimes in Italy and Germany before the war.

Note—President Truman, who thinks no art after 1800 is really worth considering, has hung two paintings in the White House Executive Office lobby referred to by some visitors as "Harry's hideous delight." Truman paid $10,000 of the taxpayer's money for what many considered artistic atrocities. But anyway they aren't modern; so no Congressman is likely to be critical.

Truman's Birthday Friend

When a group of Presidential cronies gathered at the White House to wish their friend a happy 63rd birthday, ex-Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle arrived a trifle late.

"Mr. President," Biffle said, "I've got a note here from my secretary, Betty Kraus, wishing you happy birthday. It's Betty's birthday too, and she's proud to have been born on the same day."

Truman smiled, said nothing. About five minutes later, he excused himself, went into the next room, called Biffle's office, personally thanked Miss Kraus for her thoughtful note, and wished her a happy birthday too.

Two "Impartial" Senators

It looks as if the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is wasting money by hiring lawyers. It seems to have two lawyers in the persons of Senator Capehart of Indiana, the music master, and Senator Willis Robertson of Virginia, who took the place of Carter Glass.

One a Republican, the other a Democrat, both have been acting as defenders of the B. and O. in Senator Toby's probe of the railroad's heavy loans from Jesse Jones' old Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Chairman Tobey of the Senate Banking Committee at first was dubious about the pro-railroad questions asked by Capehart and Robertson. He had reason to be. For it was soon obvious that their questions were being ghost-written by B. and O. men attending the hearing. In fact, there was no secret in Robertson's case. Frederick E. Baukages, B. and O. attorney, openly and brazenly gave the Virginia Senator little slips of paper with jotted questions to ask witnesses.

Capehart has been more discreet. He uses a middle man. One of his office assistants, Dewey Waas, takes the questions from B. and O.'s Baukages in the corridor outside the hearing room and later passes them to the Indiana Senator. Senator Tobey ground his teeth when he discovered what was going on, but said nothing.

However, the New Hampshirite's pent-up rage exploded on Baukages the other day when he interrupted Tobey several times during the cross-examination of a witness.

"You've been making yourself a little too prominent around here," Tobey shot at the B. and O. representative. "Suppose you go over there and sit down—and shut up!"

So Mr. Baukages, who draws $18,500 a year from the B. and O., has now been more silent.

Note—Senator Tobey is interested in the peculiar way the B. and O. gave juicy jobs to RFC officials at the same time it obtained lush RFC loans.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

As the legislative year passes from debate to decision, the Republican lineup for the nomination remains what it has been since the 1944 Convention, Senator Robert A. Taft or Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

This is obvious. There will be nothing like the Willkie Blitz of 1940 at Philadelphia. Every resistance to that type of convention has been developed by state delegations. Philadelphia will be a Republican convention run by Republicans.

Harold Stassen is not taken too seriously, because a man whose only current occupation is candidacy for public office rarely is. His interview with Stalin proved a political dud, for as a competitor of Henry Wallace, Stassen just is not sufficiently wild to count. It is hard to beat Wallace at that game. If Stassen assumed that his physical presence in Moscow during that Conference would add to his stature, he misread the change in the attitude of the American people between the San Francisco and the Moscow Conferences.

Furthermore, Republicans, particularly party professionals, knew that at San Francisco, Stassen was extraordinarily gullible in Russian matters and that it was Arthur Vandenberg and John Foster Dulles who established so much leadership that the bi-partisan policy in international relations developed into more than a "me-too" habit. When the Stalin-Stassen interview appeared, the general feeling was that he had done no greater harm than to weaken his own candidacy, which is a personal matter.

John Bricker and Arthur Vandenburg are the so-called "dark horses." Many practical politicians feel that Dewey and Taft are working themselves into a situation where they might kill each other off. The general attitude among those who are likely to be delegates to the Convention seems to be that it is essential at this stage to support both Taft and Dewey; that both are top-notch national leaders. Strongly, it is felt that it would be damaging to the Republican party if their competition for the highest office resulted in one damaging the other, as each is essential to the other and to the Party.

Just as Tom Dewey has gained strength because of his splendid administration of the State of New York, so has Bob Taft been reinforced by his amazingly brilliant leadership in the Senate, which while it looks queer in operation, produces results of a high order. These men are not ordinary competitors. Knowing each of them about as well as a friend can, I am certain that neither would lift a finger to hurt the other.

Tom Dewey is often described as a politcial Machiavelli who applies a frigid mind to every problem and who pulls the carpet from under the feet of his best friend. This is not so. Dewey has built amazingly strong, efficient and loyal organizations both on the administrative and political sides and what is most remarkable is that, with one exception, it has held together throughout his career. No frigid, selfish personality could have accomplished this. Disloyalty begets disloyalty.

Bob Taft is everywhere acknowledged as the keenest mind not only in the Republican party but in the Congress. He is extraordinarily forthright and truthful. It has often been doubted that a man who speaks his mind freely, who will not compromise a principle for an advantage, who gives his opponents every opportunity to undo him, could succeed in politics. Some of his best friends have felt that while Taft would make an unusually competent President, he lacks the finesse of a Talleyrand and therefore could never be elected.

The fact is that whenever Taft has run for office, he has always been elected. The fact is that he got his bill through the Senate by giving Irving Ives and Wayne Morse their head, whereas had he employed the usual political tricks or the forceful methods of a political boss, he would have been defeated. It is now likely that his bill will be accepted by the House. It is even likely that it will be signed by the President. Taft has proven that leadership need not depend upon tricks.

Here are the two men, one of whom may be the Republican condidate for President. Were the Convention today, only these two names would receive serious consideration.

Bevin Shows Little Knowledge About U.S. Or Memory Is Short

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 19—British Foreign Secretary Bevin may be connected with a "liberal" government but he talks more like a reactionary when he says that publicity helped to prevent a successful negotiation of peace treaties at Moscow. He is harking back to the alternative—secret diplomacy—which brings on wars.

When Mr. Bevin says he believes the United States government concurs with his view that the press was a handicap at the Moscow conference, he does not say who in the government here believes as he does. He certainly cannot mean Secretary of State Marshall, who has indicated frequently that he understands the value of an informed public opinion.

Mr. Bevin knows very little about the United States or else he has a short memory. He must have overlooked the fact that a miracle has happened in America—both political parties are joined in policies of international cooperation as never before—and dollars are flowing to bolster weak countries in Europe. If Mr. Bevin thinks bipartisan cooperation can thrive on secrecy or that American interest, for example, in the economic plight of Great Britain can be furthered by a policy of secrecy in governmental affairs, he is 100 per cent wrong.

Secrecy Creates Suspicion

Where there is secrecy, there is suspicion. The policy which President Truman recently asked Congress to approve for helping Greece and Turkey was jeopardized for a while because the administration did not really think through its manner of handling the proposal and didn't inform congressional leaders sufficiently in advance about the background.

The most important factor in helping Congress to see the wisdom of passing the Greek-Turkish bill was the comprehensive reporting of what went on in Moscow. It would have been easy for the old-fashioned type of diplomacy to prevail—for sugar-coated or ambiguously worded communiques, which hid the truth, to be issued. But this would not have kept America informed.

There are lots of people, even in democratic countries, who do not understand a free press or its traditions. Mr. Bevin apparently favors the secrecy method because it permits of deals and shifts behind the scenes. This is precisely what the American people have been led to believe is British "imperialism." It is that kind of maneuvering which has done so much in the past to make Americans unduly suspicious of the British foreign office.

Now there are no members of the press who ever suggested that diplomatic meetings be held in the open with reporters present. It has always been assumed that diplomats would keep their own counsel on matters of great delicacy. But in these days, when governments use propaganda to create impressions that fit in with their diplomatic maneuvers, reporters in foreign posts work harded than ever to separate opinion propaganda from the facts.

Many a public official grows impatient with or is annoyed by publicity when he is in the midst of negotiating an agreement but the real problem nevertheless is to deal with such happenings temperately and tactfully. Certainly reporters do not have access to what goes on day-by-day between foreign offices and their ambassadors. One might ask what is the use of paying for embassies and legations if the men occupying these important posts cannot pave the way in advance for agreements? The fact is that when a big international conference is called it attracts the press and conferences should not be held until there is a certainty in advance that agreement on basic points can be reached. To leave to a large-scale conference the settlement in impromptu fashion of points that might as well have been threshed out long before the conference, is to reveal an ineptitude which even old-fashioned diplomacy usually avoided.

Mr. Bevin and Russia, in particular, ought to be thankful that the Moscow conference and background was as thoroughly reported as it was. Nothing that the pres wrote and evidently nothing that Mr. Bevin could contribute by way of argument in secret altered the Soviet determination not to agree at this time with the democracies on the all-important question of reparations. But it is safe to say that no agreement would be possible in November—and an agreement now is confidently expected—if the Moscow conference had not been so thoroughly reported to the American people. The United States government has a united public opinion behind it in its policies toward Europe and not the least beneficiary of that unity is Great Britain.

Father Landrigan Performs Ceremony

Miss Dorothy Marie Brinker, daughter of Frederick L. Brinker, 501 Oldtown road, became the bride of Kenneth Roby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Roby, 403 Linden Street, yesterday. The wedding ceremony was solemnized at a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, officiating.

Miss Dorothy Kuhlman was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Francis Brinker, brother of the bride, served as best man. Mrs. Ann Moore Shaffer played the traditional wedding marches, a program of nuptial music and accompanied the Lodgson sister's quartet who sang, "On this way O. Beautiful Mother," and "O Lord I Am not Worthy."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown fashioned with marquisette yoke, long fitted sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, and a full skirt ending in a sweeping train. A tiara of orange blossoms and pearls held her fingertip length veil of net, which was bordered with lace. a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis completed her costume.

Her maid of honor wore a light blue lace and marquisette gown, made similar to the bride's with short sleeves. With it she wore lace gloves and a shoulder length net veil held by a tiara of net and satin rosettes. She carried a colonial bouquet of tulips snapdragons and iris.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and is employed by the Celanese. The bridegroom attended Fort Hill High School and is a veteran of three years service in the Army, of which two were spent in the Pacific theater. He is employed by the Tri-State Paper Company.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The wedding motif was carried out in the three tiered cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom, and repeated in the white flowers and tapers. Miss Annie Brinker, Miss Elizabeth Brinker, Mrs. Joseph Schultz, Mrs. John Schultz and Mrs. William Coleman assisted in serving.

For traveling the bride chose a gray gabardine suit with black accessories. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Roby will reside at 501 Oldtown road.

Keiser, Frazier, Goss Score Over Keystate Boxers

Holsopple KO's Mann; Starkey Scores T.K.O.

Randall "Skeets" Starkey stopped Johnny Esposito in the second round and Cumberland boxers were returned winners over representatives of the Keystate Athletic Club of Central City, Pa., in three out of four matches last night in the Police Boys' Club's 10-bout program at the State Armory.

It was one of the best of the 16 shows conducted here this season and attracted 490 cash customers.

Cumberland simon pures gained an even break in the two top bouts on the card when Bill Frazier, 162-pounder of the Rocket A.C. decisioned Mark Yelovitch 3 to 0 after his teammate, Bill Mann was flattended for the full count by Brian Holsopple, Central City slugger, in 58 seconds of the second heat. The sharp punching Holsopple put Mann down for a nine count in the first round and sent him down for the count of "10" in the succeeding stanza. Mann was counted out in a kneeling position with his head touching the canvas.

In the other pair of inter-city scraps, Bobby Goss, flashing his best form of the season, won a unanimous decision over a tough little customer in the person of Pete Lucas in one of the liveliest battles on the card, and Donnie Keiser, won the verdict of the referee and both judges in his slugfest with Paul Cherup, of the Pennsylvania team.

Sonny Lafferty of St. Mary's Boys' Club started off the evening's fireworks by whipping Roy Richardson, of Frostburg, while in the second match Jake Koelker, flashing his best form, belted out a decision over Richard "Kid" Kemp, a willing southpaw featherweight from Frostburg.

Niland Disqualified

Referee Gilbert Becker disqualified Joe Niland, local middleweight, for using low punches in the third round of his match with Jimmy Reed, of the Royale A. C. There was much excitement in this bout when the handlers of both boys came pouring into the ring but Becker stood by his guns and declared Reed the victor. Becker said Reed landed one low blow and Niland struck below the boundary on three occasions. Niland was ahead on points when he was disqualified.

Frankie Lisanti, son of Jake Lisanti, one-time local professional boxer, made his debut a winning one by decisioning Jackie Reed (3-0) in the 5th match on the card. Frankie fought for St. Mary's Club.

"Skeets" Starkey made it ten wins in a row locally when he won via a T.K.O. over Johnny Esposito, LaSalle athlete, and winner of four previous bouts, in the second round of their match. Esposito took a lacing and hit the deck for nine in the first round and eight in the second before going down head first for the grand finale. Referee Kelley declared Starkey the winner.

In the tenth and final bout on Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher's program, George Booth, of the "Fighting Booth Family" of Eckhart, seconded by his brother Johnny, won over Bob George, Diamond A.C. 140-pounder in 1:07 of the final round when the latter suffered a bad cut above his right eye. It was a T.K.O. win for Booth, who was making his first start.

Decisions were unanimous in all six bouts that went the limit.

Judges for the show were Ross W. Prysock and Howard "Red" Bush. The referees were Jim Kelley and Gilbert Becker, the announcers, Nelson W. Russler and Charley Krapf and the timer, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh.

Houck Coming Here

Announcement was made that the American Legion has applied for a sanction to hold a tri-state tournament here on successive Monday nights, May 26, June 2 and June 9. Referee James E. Kelley has arranged for Leo Houck, boxing coach at Penn State College for 25 years to come here, and give a talk on boxing the first night of the tourney. Houck will be accompanied by two of his best middleweights, Jackie Tighe, Eastern Intercollegiate champion, and Jack Sheehe, of Oakland, Md., who will give a demonstration on the art of boxing.

Romans And Isaacs Lead In PGA Qualifying Tests

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—Walter Romans, newly-appointed pro at Baltimore Country and Five Farms Clubs, and Jack Isaacs, veteran linksman from Langley Field, Va., split top honors today in the 36-hole Middle Atlantic Sectional qualifying tests for the national professional golfers association tourney.

They posted identical two over par 146 totals for the two rounds of play at the Mount Pleasant course.

The other qualifiers were Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., and John O'Donnell, Norfolk, Va.

Cards Top Phils, 5-3

ST. LOUIS, May 19, (AP)—Catcher Del Rice and First Baseman Stan Musial provided the big blows as the St. Louis Cardinals salvaged the last of a three-game series with the Philadelphia Phils, 5-3, tonight before a crowd of 7,558.

FIGHT RESULTS

Sonny Lafferty, 108, St. Mary's Boys' Club, won decision over Roy Richardson, 108, Century A. C., Frostburg.

LaSalle Plays Fort Hill, AHS Invades Beall Today

Intra-City Contest Set For Taylor Field

LaSalle's return game with Fort Hill looms as the most improtant of three contests today in the Tri-County interscholastic Baseball Conference. It will be staged at Taylor Field.

The Explorers' lone defeat in ten starts came at the hands of the Sentinels on May 12 when Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels spilled the North Centre Street aggregation to the tune of 6 to 2. In that game Bob Doman emerged the victory over Pat Creegan when a four-run rally in the sixth broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Doman will oppose either Jim Delaney or Creegan in today's encounter. Fort Hill's season record is nine wins, two defeats.

LaSalle is leading the Tri-County race at the present time with six wins and one loss while Fort Hill is in third place with a record of 5-2. A defeat for LaSalle would move Beall of Frostburg into the lead provided Coach Ed Finzel's Mountain City aggregation defeats Allegany today at Frostburg. Bob Blair will oppose Tom Jamison or Harry Widdows in the latter game. It will mark the first meeting of Beall and the Campers. Beall's conference record is three wins and one loss and Allegany's four victories and two defeats.

Beall's over-all record is seven triumphs and one setback and Allegany's seven wins in 10 starts.

In the third conference game of the day, Paw Paw, defeated in eight consecutive league starts, will play Hyndman High in Hyndman, Pa.

The games are scheduled for 4 p. m., daylight time.

FORT HILL TROUNCES KEYSER TOSSERS, 22-4

Getting an assortment of 20 hits, including six for extra bases, the Fort Hill High Sentinels pounded out a 22-4 victory over the Keyser (W. Va.) High Golden Tornado yesterday at Fort Hill.

Elmer Freeland, in sparking the Sentinel attack on two Keyser hurlers had a perfect day at the plate with five for five, including a homer, a triple and a double. Lattimer was Fort Hill's No. 2 slugger with three singles.

Fort Hill scored in every inning but the sixth, reaching its high point in the fourth when it tallied eight runs. Campbell limited Keyser to five blows, including two triples and a single by See. The box:

Keiser, Frazier, Goss Score Over Keystate Boxers

Holsopple KO's Mann; Starkey Scores T.K.O.

Randall "Skeets" Starkey stopped Johnny Esposito in the second round and Cumberland boxers were returned winners over representatives of the Keystate Athletic Club of Central City, Pa., in three out of four matches last night in the Police Boys' Club's 10-bout program at the State Armory.

It was one of the best of the 16 shows conducted here this season and attracted 490 cash customers.

Cumberland simon pures gained an even break in the two top bouts on the card when Bill Frazier, 162-pounder of the Rocket A.C. decisioned Mark Yelovitch 3 to 0 after his teammate, Bill Mann was flattended for the full count by Brian Holsopple, Central City slugger, in 58 seconds of the second heat. The sharp punching Holsopple put Mann down for a nine count in the first round and sent him down for the count of "10" in the succeeding stanza. Mann was counted out in a kneeling position with his head touching the canvas.

In the other pair of inter-city scraps, Bobby Goss, flashing his best form of the season, won a unanimous decision over a tough little customer in the person of Pete Lucas in one of the liveliest battles on the card, and Donnie Keiser, won the verdict of the referee and both judges in his slugfest with Paul Cherup, of the Pennsylvania team.

Sonny Lafferty of St. Mary's Boys' Club started off the evening's fireworks by whipping Roy Richardson, of Frostburg, while in the second match Jake Koelker, flashing his best form, belted out a decision over Richard "Kid" Kemp, a willing southpaw featherweight from Frostburg.

Niland Disqualified

Referee Gilbert Becker disqualified Joe Niland, local middleweight, for using low punches in the third round of his match with Jimmy Reed, of the Royale A. C. There was much excitement in this bout when the handlers of both boys came pouring into the ring but Becker stood by his guns and declared Reed the victor. Becker said Reed landed one low blow and Niland struck below the boundary on three occasions. Niland was ahead on points when he was disqualified.

Frankie Lisanti, son of Jake Lisanti, one-time local professional boxer, made his debut a winning one by decisioning Jackie Reed (3-0) in the 5th match on the card. Frankie fought for St. Mary's Club.

"Skeets" Starkey made it ten wins in a row locally when he won via a T.K.O. over Johnny Esposito, LaSalle athlete, and winner of four previous bouts, in the second round of their match. Esposito took a lacing and hit the deck for nine in the first round and eight in the second before going down head first for the grand finale. Referee Kelley declared Starkey the winner.

In the tenth and final bout on Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher's program, George Booth, of the "Fighting Booth Family" of Eckhart, seconded by his brother Johnny, won over Bob George, Diamond A.C. 140-pounder in 1:07 of the final round when the latter suffered a bad cut above his right eye. It was a T.K.O. win for Booth, who was making his first start.

Decisions were unanimous in all six bouts that went the limit.

Judges for the show were Ross W. Prysock and Howard "Red" Bush. The referees were Jim Kelley and Gilbert Becker, the announcers, Nelson W. Russler and Charley Krapf and the timer, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh.

Houck Coming Here

Announcement was made that the American Legion has applied for a sanction to hold a tri-state tournament here on successive Monday nights, May 26, June 2 and June 9. Referee James E. Kelley has arranged for Leo Houck, boxing coach at Penn State College for 25 years to come here, and give a talk on boxing the first night of the tourney. Houck will be accompanied by two of his best middleweights, Jackie Tighe, Eastern Intercollegiate champion, and Jack Sheehe, of Oakland, Md., who will give a demonstration on the art of boxing.

LaSalle Plays Fort Hill, AHS Invades Beall Today

Intra-City Contest Set For Taylor Field

LaSalle's return game with Fort Hill looms as the most improtant of three contests today in the Tri-County interscholastic Baseball Conference. It will be staged at Taylor Field.

The Explorers' lone defeat in ten starts came at the hands of the Sentinels on May 12 when Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Sentinels spilled the North Centre Street aggregation to the tune of 6 to 2. In that game Bob Doman emerged the victory over Pat Creegan when a four-run rally in the sixth broke a 2-2 deadlock.

Doman will oppose either Jim Delaney or Creegan in today's encounter. Fort Hill's season record is nine wins, two defeats.

LaSalle is leading the Tri-County race at the present time with six wins and one loss while Fort Hill is in third place with a record of 5-2. A defeat for LaSalle would move Beall of Frostburg into the lead provided Coach Ed Finzel's Mountain City aggregation defeats Allegany today at Frostburg. Bob Blair will oppose Tom Jamison or Harry Widdows in the latter game. It will mark the first meeting of Beall and the Campers. Beall's conference record is three wins and one loss and Allegany's four victories and two defeats.

Beall's over-all record is seven triumphs and one setback and Allegany's seven wins in 10 starts.

In the third conference game of the day, Paw Paw, defeated in eight consecutive league starts, will play Hyndman High in Hyndman, Pa.

The games are scheduled for 4 p. m., daylight time.

Fort Hill scored in every inning but the sixth, reaching its high point in the fourth when it tallied eight runs. Campbell limited Keyser to five blows, including two triples and a single by See. The box:

Funeral Will Be Held Thursday

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 19—Owen L. Porter, 76, one of the judges of the Trial Magistrate's Court, this city, died early Monday afternoon after being ill since Thursday morning. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while on his way to church from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Cosgrove, 67 Frost Avenue, with whom he resided.

A native of Frostburg and a member of one of the pioneer families of this section, Judge Porter was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter. His mother was the former Miss Mary O'Connor, Boston, and was one of the first teachers at St. Michael's parochial school when that institution was conducted in the basement of St. Michael's Church.

Besides Mrs. Cosgrove, he leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Frank Brady, Frostburg, and Mrs. Raymond McGuire, Hagerstown; a son, Owen L. Porter, Jr., Savannah, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. Hugh Walker, Savannah, and the Misses Anna and Rose Porter, Washington; and two grandchildren, Ruth Ann Cosgrove, Frostburg, and Margaret Lucille Porter, Savannah.

Judge Porter was connected with the Trial Magistrate Court here for eight and a half years, receiving his first appointment from Governor O'Conor, and was reappointed for another term two weeks ago by Governor Lane.

As a young man he appeared in many home talent benefit performances, having considerable ability as a singer and a minstrel man. He was employed for 35 years by the late John S. Brophy in the office of the old Piedmont and George's Creek Coal Company and during much of that time was associated with the late Joseph H. Hitchins in the management of the old Frostburg Opera House.

Judge Porter was a devout Catholic and was a member of the Holy Name Society. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday, 9:30 a. m., in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery. The body will remain at the Cosgrove residence, 67 Frost avenue, until the hour of the funeral. Judge Porter's wife, the former Anna H. Jones, died in April, 1938.

Mrs. Harry Davis, Center Street, president of the Frostburg Auxiliary, has appointed Mrs. Annie Laber, Mt. Pleasant Street, chairman of the poppy sale committee.

Mrs. Laber has called attention to the fact that the Saturday before Memorial Day has been observed as Poppy Day in all parts of the country for many years. Last year, she said, 25 million Americans wore poppies and the total receipts for the entire country was $311,879.17.

The contributions made are the principal source of financial support for the American Legion's extensive work for the welfare of the war's living victims, the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Memorial Services Arranged

Arthur Arnone Post, No. 212, American Legion, Eckhart, has completed plans for the annual Memorial Day services at the Eckhart cemetery. Preceding services at the cemetery, members of the post will assemble at the town square and after placing a wreath at the foot of the honor roll, will march to the cemetery. School children will be asked to join the Legionnaires in the procession.

Speakers at the cemetery will be Rev. Sidney Aldrich, pastor of Eckhart Baptist Church and Rev. John Wilson, pastor of the Eckhart Methodist Church. There will also be vocal selections by the combined choirs of the two churches.

In addition to the Eckhart cemetery, two other cemeteries, Vale Summit and Porter, are in the jurisdiction of the newly formed Eckhart American Legion Post and the members are planning to pay honor to the dead in these two cemeteries, a service which was formerly performed by Farrady Post, No. 24, Frostburg.

Parents Fight Son's Move To Change Name

An answer has been filed in Circuit Court by Bernard Grabenstein and Mrs. Marie Grabenstein of near Cresaptown, protesting the petition of their son and daughter-in-law B. Leroy Grabenstein and Mrs. Alma Lee Grabenstein, who want to change their name.

The young couple petitioned the local court April 8, for legal permission to change their name from Grabenstein to Grayson. They stated in their petition that they are students at Ursinus College at Collegeville, Pa., and prefer the name of Grayson because it is "more euphonious", and easier for children to remember and pronounce. They explain they plan to enter the teaching profession and will instruct in primary grades, according to their attorney, E. M. Horchler.

The parents, represented by Edward J. Ryan, were given the right to intervene in the case by Chief Judge William A. Huster, and it was indicated that a hearing will be held later in court.

They asserted that the Grabenstein family has been in Allegany County more than 100 years and "it is a substantial and well respected name." The parents also charged that the petition to change the name "is a reflection on the family," and that the son and his wife "have no real reason to seek such a change."

Court attaches said they were told the conflict started after young Grabenstein, a veteran, joined his wife's church, and the wife contended their mail went to the home of the parents-in-law on the same route. She was quoted as saying his parents "never had anything to do with us" since the marriage.

Funeral Will Be Held Thursday

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, May 19—Owen L. Porter, 76, one of the judges of the Trial Magistrate's Court, this city, died early Monday afternoon after being ill since Thursday morning. He was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage while on his way to church from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Cosgrove, 67 Frost Avenue, with whom he resided.

A native of Frostburg and a member of one of the pioneer families of this section, Judge Porter was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Porter. His mother was the former Miss Mary O'Connor, Boston, and was one of the first teachers at St. Michael's parochial school when that institution was conducted in the basement of St. Michael's Church.

Besides Mrs. Cosgrove, he leaves two other daughters, Mrs. Frank Brady, Frostburg, and Mrs. Raymond McGuire, Hagerstown; a son, Owen L. Porter, Jr., Savannah, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. Hugh Walker, Savannah, and the Misses Anna and Rose Porter, Washington; and two grandchildren, Ruth Ann Cosgrove, Frostburg, and Margaret Lucille Porter, Savannah.

Judge Porter was connected with the Trial Magistrate Court here for eight and a half years, receiving his first appointment from Governor O'Conor, and was reappointed for another term two weeks ago by Governor Lane.

As a young man he appeared in many home talent benefit performances, having considerable ability as a singer and a minstrel man. He was employed for 35 years by the late John S. Brophy in the office of the old Piedmont and George's Creek Coal Company and during much of that time was associated with the late Joseph H. Hitchins in the management of the old Frostburg Opera House.

Judge Porter was a devout Catholic and was a member of the Holy Name Society. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday, 9:30 a. m., in St. Michael's Catholic Church. Interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery. The body will remain at the Cosgrove residence, 67 Frost avenue, until the hour of the funeral. Judge Porter's wife, the former Anna H. Jones, died in April, 1938.

The contributions made are the principal source of financial support for the American Legion's extensive work for the welfare of the war's living victims, the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

Memorial Services Arranged

Arthur Arnone Post, No. 212, American Legion, Eckhart, has completed plans for the annual Memorial Day services at the Eckhart cemetery. Preceding services at the cemetery, members of the post will assemble at the town square and after placing a wreath at the foot of the honor roll, will march to the cemetery. School children will be asked to join the Legionnaires in the procession.

Speakers at the cemetery will be Rev. Sidney Aldrich, pastor of Eckhart Baptist Church and Rev. John Wilson, pastor of the Eckhart Methodist Church. There will also be vocal selections by the combined choirs of the two churches.

In addition to the Eckhart cemetery, two other cemeteries, Vale Summit and Porter, are in the jurisdiction of the newly formed Eckhart American Legion Post and the members are planning to pay honor to the dead in these two cemeteries, a service which was formerly performed by Farrady Post, No. 24, Frostburg.

Parents Fight Son's Move To Change Name

An answer has been filed in Circuit Court by Bernard Grabenstein and Mrs. Marie Grabenstein of near Cresaptown, protesting the petition of their son and daughter-in-law B. Leroy Grabenstein and Mrs. Alma Lee Grabenstein, who want to change their name.

The young couple petitioned the local court April 8, for legal permission to change their name from Grabenstein to Grayson. They stated in their petition that they are students at Ursinus College at Collegeville, Pa., and prefer the name of Grayson because it is "more euphonious", and easier for children to remember and pronounce. They explain they plan to enter the teaching profession and will instruct in primary grades, according to their attorney, E. M. Horchler.

The parents, represented by Edward J. Ryan, were given the right to intervene in the case by Chief Judge William A. Huster, and it was indicated that a hearing will be held later in court.

They asserted that the Grabenstein family has been in Allegany County more than 100 years and "it is a substantial and well respected name." The parents also charged that the petition to change the name "is a reflection on the family," and that the son and his wife "have no real reason to seek such a change."

Court attaches said they were told the conflict started after young Grabenstein, a veteran, joined his wife's church, and the wife contended their mail went to the home of the parents-in-law on the same route. She was quoted as saying his parents "never had anything to do with us" since the marriage.

LONACONING, May 19 — Rev. John E. Stacks, pastor, announced today that on Sunday, May 25, a "Day of Dedications" will be held at the First Methodist church, Lonaconing.

At the 11 o'clock service a memorial window will be dedicated to the memory of William T. Barnes, who died May 30, 1945. Mr. Barnes for more than 55 years was a faithful worker in the church, having been an official member for more than 28 years. The Barnes Memorial window is presented by his family.

A second memorial window to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. James Sloan, members of the church over a great number of years, will also be dedicated. Mr. Sloan died in 1935, while his wife died in 1942. The window is also presented by the family in memory of their father and mother.

Homemakers Meet

A house-cleaning hint will be given by each member of the Lonaconing Homemakers Club in answer to roll call at the club's meeting Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Red Cross room, Main street.

Arrangements for the women who plan to attend the Rural Women's Short Course at the University of Maryland beginning June 17, will be announced by Miss Maude A. Bean, Allegany County Home Demonstration Agent, who is expected to be present.

Brief Mention

The Junior Department of the First Methodist Church will sponsor a Sacred Concert June 18, at 7:45 p. m., in the church auditorium. They are planning to use talented musicians from Lonaconing and nearby localities in the program. The proceeds will be used to help beautify the interior of the chapel of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bauch, Baltimore, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shoner, Elliott City, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Foote, Watercliffe, over the weekend.

Felix Foote, Sr., member of Goodwill Volunteer Fire Company No. 1, and a member of the Legislative committee of the Allegany County Firemen's association, attended the Firemen's meeting in Frederick Sunday.

Popp Cites Various Ways To Encourage Home Construction

Methods of encouraging home construction, as suggested to the Mayor and Council yesterday by Thomas L. Popp, former Republican leader of the House of Delegates, included extension of sewer service, a reduction of 25 per cent in building labor and material costs and a 10-cent cut in the city tax rate.

Popp, who last week opposed the hiring of a fulltime paid recreation director, suggested a long list of activities which might be incorporated into a recreation program, adding that local newspapers might cooperate by having a combined sports-recreation section.

Accountant Named

John S. Zolvik, Jr., 421 Cumberland Street, was named certified public accountant for the city to succeed the late Charles O. Hall. The term has a year to run. He will be paid not more than $1,500 to perform such duties as may be designated by the mayor.

Whitman, Requardt and Associates, Baltimore engineers, were authorized to prepare a revised estimate of the cost of constructing the proposed crosstown viaduct and submitting a report. The fee will be $300.

The auxiliary of Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion, was given permission to sell poppies on streets May 24.

The application of the Princes of Bagdad of the Knights of Malta to sponsor the Dumont Shows here July 13-20 was granted.

A petition asking that an alley, between 521 and 601 Hill Top Drive and running to Sheridan Place, be opened was referred to the engineer and street commissioner.

At the suggestion of Old Rail Post No. 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Mt. Savage, the council called for the construction of a veterans hospital in Western Maryland.

To Prepare Estimate

W. A. Strother, tax collector, was ordered paid $124.33, which represents collection charges due the commissioner of motor vehicles in connection with 1947 auto taxes.

The city engineer was instructed to prepare a cost estimate for the construction of a sewer in the Mapleside section of Oldtown Road. Mrs. Goldie G. Dodrill, 17 West First Street, urged that action be taken.

The engineer was instructed to grant a sewer permit to Allen Schlosberg, 140 Harrison Street, and to charge for the tap. The sewer itself will be built privately and runs over private property and no frontage will be charged.

The mayor announced the council will meet at 10 a. m. today, to make a further study of the budget.

When going to social functions, Jamaica bells carry their shoes on their heads and don them upon arrival.

Only one in every hundred murderers in the United States is ever executed for his crime.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Who are the 10 most attractive men in America?

Speaking for myself, I don't give a hoot. But I understand some 75,000,000 females do.

Two of the 75,000,000 spend a lot of time in my house. One of them is my wife: the other, her big chum, Ginny Reynolds.

Billy Rose

Last night we were sitting around the living room, practicing breathing. Eleanor looked up from the evening paper and sighed, "Don't you thing Eisenhower is awfully attractive?"

"Amen," said Ginny. "Ike can have my seat on the subway any time."

"Does he send you as much as Gregory Peck?" quizzed Eleanor

"They're off!" I shouted. And they were. Off on the old glamor-guy discussion. But this time they got a little system into it and wrote out a list.

"What are the ground rules?" I asked. "What do you mean by attractive?"

"It has to do with vibrations," said Ginny. "In your day they called it sex appeal."

"How do you rate Laurence Olivier?" I inquired.

"Speaking conservatively," said Eleanor, "he's the most attractive man in the world. But ours is an all-American list."

By the time the girls had agreed on the Big Ten, the room was littered with arms, legs and little manchops. I wrote down the winners. Also what the girls had to say about some of the Lads Who Didn't Make It.

Van Johnson: "Beginning to put it on in the caboose."

Tyrone Power: "Too pretty. Hard to believe he shaves."

Robert Taylor: "Looks like the fellow in the ad who couldn't get to first base with Mary till he got the dandruff off his collar."

Jimmy Cagney: (See Van Johnson.)

Cesar Romero: "Too much hair tonic."

Ernest Hemingway: "A little hard on the furniture."

And so on, et cetera, and so forth.

I pass along Eleanor and Ginny's list, realizing no two-girl team in the country will agree with it.

Here it is—the ten most attractive men in America—listed alphabetically and with marginal comments by the gals who clawed it out.

1. Bernard M. Baruch—76 years and 76 inches of dignity and sweetness. Silvertop's combination of big-town know-how and Carolina manners get him win, place and show in the Old Darling Derby. What a President should look like.

2. Joe Drown—You never heard of him. Owns several hotels. Success story stuff. Only 35. Hails from Texas. What every stenographer wishes her boss looked like. Besides, he can get you a hotel room.

3. Ike Eisenhower—Mucho hombre. Well-tubbed looking. Five-star grin. Good with the words. Handy man in the clinches.

4. Clark Gable—Still the champ. None of the new movie muscle-benders is fit to carry his Indian clubs.

5. Cary Grant—Every babe's idea of the perfect date. The Other Man in 90% of the American homes.

6. Hank Greenberg—Frank Merriwell type. Hard-hitting, soft-spoken. Plenty muscles. Good fellow to have around when there's a burglar in the house.

7. Bill Paley—Bossman of Columbia Broadcasting. Man of Distinction candidate. Big operator in the shekel department. Looks good, too.

8. Gregory Peck—Wheeeeeee! Buy me that, daddy!

9. William Saroyan—Wild heart. Every day is Fourth of July. Every night is Hallowe'en. Dead-end kid with a library card.

10. Ed Stettinius—All that white hair. All those good clothes. All that money. All that man.

There it is. If any of my lady readers have suggestions or changes, I'll be glad to consider them. Please send along a thousand dollars in coin or stamps to cover cost of handling.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

SHADOW AND SUBSTANCE

A young girl in Wisconsin last year shot and killed her father and later told the court she had been prompted to the act by a radio drama in which a young girl shot her father. A boy in New Jersey successfully opened and robbed a safe. In court, he explained he had learned the safe-cracking art from a radio program. In Graterford, Pa., last March five felons heard a radio dramatization of the Holmesburg prison break in Philadelphia, took careful notes and used the same general plan in an attempted prison break from Pennsylvania's Eastern penitentiary.

John Crosby

Those are just a few examples of the influence of radio on crime. There are dozens of others, and each arouses a mild uproar. The effect of murder mysteries in promoting actual crimes has been frequently and unfavorably discussed for years and, I think, little understood. Radio is not the only medium to bear the wrath of the public for its handling of crime either. Newspapers for years, in many cases justifiably, have been accused of fostering crime by sensationalizing it. Radio is just the newest scapegoat.

Without attempting to defend all the excesses of crime programs, I think it ought to be pointed out that it is an oversimplification to blame any actual crime directly on the radio even when the perpetrator tries to lay the blame at radio's door. Any one who commits a crime in emulation of a radio program is sufficiently weak-minded to commit one for a variety of other reasons and very likely would commit one even if there were no such thing as a radio.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F.B.I., recently rebuked those who wanted to ban all whodunits from the air. At the same time, he condemned any radio program which glorified criminals and let them go unpunished. I have never heard any such program and I doubt whether Mr. Hoover had recently either, unless it was on an independent station. All networks have rules against the glorification of the criminal, though sometimes the rules are stretched pretty far.

On esthetic grounds many whodunits deserve censure; on moral grounds, I believe any form of suppression would be a flagrant misuse of censorship. Many of the great masterpieces of literature are murder stories—"Macbeth" and "Crime and Punishment" to name two. I don't mean to put any radio programs in a class with Shakespeare or Dostoevsky but, it seems to me the classics prove that crime stories of themselves are not reprehensible.

The handling of crime stories is another matter. Many of them are purposefully sordid without any compensating realism. Outright torture or fiendish methods of killing are breaches of taste and inexcusable as drama. (And I'll include Mr. Shakespeare in that one too. The eye-gouging scene in "King Lear" is good poetry but terrible theater.) Many, many crime programs are just dull.

Another more justifiable criticism of radio whodunits is the fact there are too many of them. The American Broadcasting Company now has thirteen of them, four of which follow each other on Saturday night. The proportion of murder or crime dramas to other types of drama is way out of balance.

There are two excellent reasons for this, both of which indicate the situation won't soon be remedied. One is that crime programs are cheap and easy to produce. The second is that the American public just likes the darn things. Mystery stories sell by the millions in this country. The movies have a regular stock in trade in whodunits. And radio should hardly be blamed for following suit.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, May 19—Sue Carol Ladd has her figure back and she looks prettier than she's looked in years. So she's a happy girl to know that she's going to get a chance to go to New York in the fall and show off that swell shape.

Sue Carol Ladd

Alan has been set to star in the William Wister story "The Long Gray Line." Remember I told you weeks ago that Paramount is making the West Point story, telling the actual story of the historic Academy from which General MacArthur and most of our other famous generals graduated.

It will be made, of course, at the Point and that means a trip to New York for Susie and Alan.

Marilyn Nash, the Charlie Chaplin protege, left for New York to make personal appearances for his picture. Perhaps that's a part of the exploitation which United Artists is planning.

But Marilyn won't stay too long. She tells me that she's going to have her baby right in Los Angeles in September. She's the wife of Phil Yordan, author of "Anna Lucasta" and well known movie writer.

She has had several offers to make pictures, but she will not accept any of them until after the birth of her baby.

Unfortunate that her first picture happened to be one that was so controversial.

Chatter in Hollywood: The very pretty redhead, Linda Christians, wears the most expensive jewels of any young actress. They were reported to have been given to her by a rich and influential admirer.

Jacqueline Dalya is another beauty who is decked with jewels. Well, as I understand it, the two ladies met at a party and got into an argument, and it seems it was all over their jewels, which report says were given them by the same gent! Only Linda's were much bigger and more expensive.

If Ingrid Bergman isn't the richest woman in town it won't be because she hasn't made the most money. Her percentage of the profits of "Arch Of Triumph" is 25 per cent, and I am told that she gets the same amount from the picture version of "Joan Of Lorraine".

which she is making with Walter Wanger and Victor Fleming as soon as she's well enough.

A new bungalow has been built on the Roach lot to house Bergman and give her every comfort while she's making the picture.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: What's this I hear about Cary Grant's attentions to Peggy Cummins? They're keeping it very much to themselves and Peggy is certainly his type.

Joan Caulfield and Charlie Feldman are another Hollywood pair of stargazers. Saw them dining with the Sam Goldwyns. At a nearby table George Burns played host to Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Jack Warner, Joy Page and Bill Orr. Gracie was home with a headache. Never heard George so funny. He had Jack Warner rolling out of his chair. Remind yourself to ask him to tell you that Jolson yarn.

Leta Alkov, who was Carole Lombard's stand-in in the old days, welcomed an eight-pound boy. She is married to a dentist.

The Dan Dailey baby is expected in August and Mrs. Dailey will go East so she can be near Dan's family. He will be on location in Arizona at that time.

Everett Freeman, who writes the Fanny Brice and other radio shows, will marry Rose Ann Murray, a New York actress in just two weeks.

The Ray Heindorfs are cradle shopping for their second baby, due in the fall. He's Warners' musical director.

Mrs. Lorena Danker goes into the hospital this week for a complete check up and rest. She's too pretty to be out of circulation long.

Now it's the redhead, Helena Carter, George Raft is buying dinners for and telephoning each day.

Valli, the New Selznick star, will enroll for a course in philosophy this fall. She formerly went to college in Rome.

Anne Baxter, who is still far from well, has gone on a fishing trip with John Hodiak to see if she can recuperate.

Peggy Knudsen is having a difficult time deciding between Phil Reed and Howard Hughes. Both are playing her attention.

Louis B. Mayer and Clarence Brown flew to San Francisco today piloted by Robert Taylor.

I don't know why I was surprised, but I was, when I was told that James Byrnes, former secretary of state, was awarded the humanitarian prize by the Variety club.

That's all today.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Who are the 10 most attractive men in America?

Speaking for myself, I don't give a hoot. But I understand some 75,000,000 females do.

Billy Rose

Two of the 75,000,000 spend a lot of time in my house. One of them is my wife; the other, her big chum, Ginny Reynolds.

Last night we were sitting around the living room, practicing breathing. Eleanor looked up from the evening paper and sighed, "Don't you thing Eisenhower is awfully attractive?"

"Amen," said Ginny. "Ike can have my seat on the subway any time."

"Does he send you as much as Gregory Peck?" quizzed Eleanor

"They're off!" I shouted. And they were. Off on the old glamor-guy discussion. But this time they got a little system into it and wrote out a list.

"What are the ground rules?" I asked. "What do you mean by attractive?"

"It has to do with vibrations," said Ginny. "In your day they called it sex appeal."

"How do you rate Laurence Olivier?" I inquired.

"Speaking conservatively," said Eleanor, "he's the most attractive man in the world. But ours is an all-American list."

By the time the girls had agreed on the Big Ten, the room was littered with arms, legs and little manchops. I wrote down the winners. Also what the girls had to say about some of the Lads Who Didn't Make It.

Van Johnson: "Beginning to put it on in the caboose."

Tyrone Power: "Too pretty. Hard to believe he shaves."

Robert Taylor: "Looks like the fellow in the ad who couldn't get to first base with Mary till he got the dandruff off his collar."

Jimmy Cagney: (See Van Johnson.)

Cesar Romero: "Too much hair tonic."

Ernest Hemingway: "A little hard on the furniture."

And so on, et cetera, and so forth.

I pass along Eleanor and Ginny's list, realizing no two-girl team in the country will agree with it.

Here it is—the ten most attractive men in America—listed alphabetically and with marginal comments by the gals who clawed it out.

1. Bernard M. Baruch—76 years and 76 inches of dignity and sweetness. Silvertop's combination of big-town know-how and Carolina manners get him win, place and show in the Old Darling Derby. What a President should look like.

2. Joe Drown—You never heard of him. Owns several hotels. Success story stuff. Only 35. Hails from Texas. What every stenographer wishes her boss looked like. Besides, he can get you a hotel room.

3. Ike Eisenhower—Mucho hombre. Well-tubbed looking. Five-star grin. Good with the words. Handy man in the clinches.

4. Clark Gable—Still the champ. None of the new movie muscle-benders is fit to carry his Indian clubs.

5. Cary Grant—Every babe's idea of the perfect date. The Other Man in 90% of the American homes.

6. Hank Greenberg—Frank Merriwell type. Hard-hitting, soft-spoken. Plenty muscles. Good fellow to have around when there's a burglar in the house.

7. Bill Paley—Bossman of Columbia Broadcasting. Man of Distinction candidate. Big operator in the shekel department. Looks good, too.

8. Gregory Peck—Wheeeeeee! Buy me that, daddy!

9. William Saroyan—Wild heart. Every day is Fourth of July. Every night is Hallowe'en. Dead-end kid with a library card.

10. Ed Stettinius—All that white hair. All those good clothes. All that money. All that man.

There it is. If any of my lady readers have suggestions or changes, I'll be glad to consider them. Please send along a thousand dollars in coin or stamps to cover cost of handling.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

SHADOW AND SUBSTANCE

A young girl in Wisconsin last year shot and killed her father and later told the court she had been prompted to the act by a radio drama in which a young girl shot her father. A boy in New Jersey successfully opened and robbed a safe. In court, he explained he had learned the safe-cracking art from a radio program. In Graterford, Pa., last March five felons heard a radio dramatization of the Holmesburg prison break in Philadelphia, took careful notes and used the same general plan in an attempted prison break from Pennsylvania's Eastern penitentiary.

John Crosby

Those are just a few examples of the influence of radio on crime. There are dozens of others, and each arouses a mild uproar. The effect of murder mysteries in promoting actual crimes has been frequently and unfavorably discussed for years and, I think, little understood. Radio is not the only medium to bear the wrath of the public for its handling of crime either. Newspapers for years, in many cases justifiably, have been accused of fostering crime by sensationalizing it. Radio is just the newest scapegoat.

Without attempting to defend all the excesses of crime programs, I think it ought to be pointed out that it is an oversimplification to blame any actual crime directly on the radio even when the perpetrator tries to lay the blame at radio's door. Any one who commits a crime in emulation of a radio program is sufficiently weak-minded to commit one for a variety of other reasons and very likely would commit one even if there were no such thing as a radio.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the F.B.I., recently rebuked those who wanted to ban all whodunits from the air. At the same time, he condemned any radio program which glorified criminals and let them go unpunished. I have never heard any such program and I doubt whether Mr. Hoover had recently either, unless it was on an independent station. All networks have rules against the glorification of the criminal, though sometimes the rules are stretched pretty far.

On esthetic grounds, many whodunits deserve censure; on moral grounds, I believe any form of suppression would be a flagrant misuse of censorship. Many of the great masterpieces of literature are murder stories—"Macbeth" and "Crime and Punishment" to name two. I don't mean to put any radio programs in a class with Shakespeare or Dostoevsky but, it seems to me the classics prove that crime stories of themselves are not reprehensible.

The handling of crime stories is another matter. Many of them are purposefully sordid without any compensating realism. Outright torture or fiendish methods of killing are breaches of taste and inexcusable as drama. (And I'll include Mr. Shakespeare in that one too. The eye-gouging scene in "King Lear" is good poetry but terrible theater.) Many, many crime programs are just dull.

Another more justifiable criticism of radio whodunits is the fact there are too many of them. The American Broadcasting Company now has thirteen of them, four of which follow each other on Saturday night. The proportion of murder or crime dramas to other types of drama is way out of balance.

There are two excellent reasons for this, both of which indicate the situation won't soon be remedied. One is that crime programs are cheap and easy to produce. The second is that the American public just likes the darn things. Mystery stories sell by the millions in this country. The movies have a regular stock in trade in whodunits. And radio should hardly be blamed for following suit.

Unfortunate that her first picture happened to be one that was so controversial.

Chatter in Hollywood: The very pretty redhead, Linda Christians, wears the most expensive jewels of any young actress. They were reported to have been given to her by a rich and influential admirer.

Jacqueline Dalya is another beauty who is decked with jewels. Well, as I understand it, the two ladies met at a party and got into an argument, and it seems it was all over their jewels, which report says were given them by the same gent! Only Linda's were much bigger and more expensive.

If Ingrid Bergman isn't the richest woman in town it won't be because she hasn't made the most money. Her percentage of the profits of "Arch Of Triumph" is 35 per cent, and I am told that she gets the same amount from the picture version of "Joan Of Lorraine", which she is making with Walter Wanger and Victor Fleming as soon as she's well enough.

A new bungalow has been built on the Roach lot to house Bergman and give her every comfort while she's making the picture.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: What's this I hear about Cary Grant's attentions to Peggy Cummins? They're keeping it very much to themselves and Peggy is certainly his type.

Joan Caulfield and Charlie Feldman are another Hollywood pair of stargazers. Saw them dining with the Sam Goldwyns. At a nearby table George Burns played host to Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Jack Warner, Joy Page and Bill Orr. Gracie was home with a headache. Never heard George so funny. He had Jack Warner rolling out of his chair. Remind yourself to ask him to tell you that Jolson yarn.

Leta Alkov, who was Carole Lombard's stand-in in the old days, welcomed an eight-pound boy. She is married to a dentist.

The Dan Dailey baby is expected in August and Mrs. Dailey will go East so she can be near Dan's family. He will be on location in Arizona at that time.

Everett Freeman, who writes the Fanny Brice and other radio shows, will marry Rose Ann Murray, a New York actress in just two weeks.

The Ray Heindorfs are cradle shopping for their second baby, due in the fall. He's Warners musical director.

Mrs. Lorena Danker goes into the hospital this week for a complete check up and rest. She's too pretty to be out of circulation long.

Now it's the redhead, Helena Carter, George Raft is buying dinners for and telephoning each day.

Valli, the New Selznick star, will enroll for a course in philosophy this fall. She formerly went to college in Rome.

Anne Baxter, who is still far from well, has gone on a fishing trip with John Hodiak to see if she can recuperate.

Peggy Knudsen is having a difficult time deciding between Phil Reed and Howard Hughes. Both are playing her attention.

Louis B. Mayer and Clarence Brown flew to San Francisco today piloted by Robert Taylor.

I don't know why I was surprised, but I was, when I was told that James Byrnes, former secretary of state, was awarded the humanitarian prize by the Variety club.

That's all today.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends, relatives, and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our dear loved one, Ellis B. Abbott.

We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of cars. We are especially grateful to the Rev. Gaharn and Choir.

WIFE, SON, and ABBOTT FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mother and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fairgrieve, who departed this life in the month of May.

The chairs you sat in, and the places you filled
Still hold your memory, though your voices be stilled;
And we who knew you, know you still and share
The peace you know, who have passed Over There.

THE CHILDREN.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends, relatives, and neighbors for their kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our dear loved one, Ellis B. Abbott.

We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of cars. We are especially grateful to the Rev. Gaharn and Choir.

WIFE, SON, and ABBOTT FAMILY.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mother and Dad, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fairgrieve, who departed this life in the month of May.

The chairs you sat in, and the places you filled
Still hold your memory, though your voices be stilled;
And we who knew you, know you still and share
The peace you know, who have passed Over There.

THE CHILDREN.

Belief That Market Was Oversold Results In Selective Comeback

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — Belief that the market had been oversold brought a selective revival in today's stock division although many leaders were unable to make the grade and numerous issues touched new lows for the past year or so. Dealings were the fastest since mid-April.

The covering of short commitments by professionals and some investment buying on the idea that a technical comeback was in the cards provided the principal support.

Heavy liquidation in the forenoon knocked pivotals for losses of one to 44 points. A little bidding then appeared and the pace slowed for a while after midday. Activity quickened in the final hour as trends stiffened and gains running to two points or more were recorded. Transfers of 1,860,000 shares were the largest since April 14 and compared with 1,430,000 Friday.

Among favorites, Chrysler added 2⅛ at 94⅝; Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅝ at 67¾, Youngstown Sheet one at 55½, and Schenley two at 25½. Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Lockheed, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, American Woolen and Glenn Martin.

Norfolk and Western conceded two at 218, Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 48¾, Eastern Air Lines 1¼ at 18, American Can 1½ at 86¾ and Johns-Manville one at 108.

Railroad issues began the week by sliding further in the heaviest bond market dealings since early January. Today's sales totaled $6,670,000 and compared with $4,100,000 last Friday.

The carriers, which have been tending downward steadily for the past two weeks, dropped off .7 of a point to 89.8 in the Associated Press compilation of 20 rails— the lowest average since September 20, 1944.

United States governments generally were unchanged in overthe-counter dealings. The 2½s of 1949-53 advanced 1-32 at 103 27-32 bid.

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Belief That Market Was Oversold Results In Selective Comeback

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — Belief that the market had been oversold brought a selective revival in today's stock division although many leaders were unable to make the grade and numerous issues touched new lows for the past year or so. Dealings were the fastest since mid-April.

The covering of short commitments by professionals and some investment buying on the idea that a technical comeback was in the cards provided the principal support.

Heavy liquidation in the forenoon knocked pivotals for losses of one to 44 points. A little bidding then appeared and the pace slowed for a while after midday. Activity quickened in the final hour as trends stiffened and gains running to two points or more were recorded. Transfers of 1,860,000 shares were the largest since April 14 and compared with 1,430,000 Friday.

Among favorites, Chrysler added 2⅛ at 94⅝; Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅝ at 67¾, Youngstown Sheet one at 55½, and Schenley two at 25½. Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Studebaker, Montgomery Ward, Lockheed, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Southern Railway, Baltimore and Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, American Woolen and Glenn Martin.

Norfolk and Western conceded two at 218, Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 48¾, Eastern Air Lines 1¼ at 18, American Can 1½ at 86¾ and Johns-Manville one at 108.

Railroad issues began the week by sliding further in the heaviest bond market dealings since early January. Today's sales totaled $6,670,000 and compared with $4,100,000 last Friday.

The carriers, which have been tending downward steadily for the past two weeks, dropped off .7 of a point to 89.8 in the Associated Press compilation of 20 rails— the lowest average since September 20, 1944.

Tired, "All-In"— Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

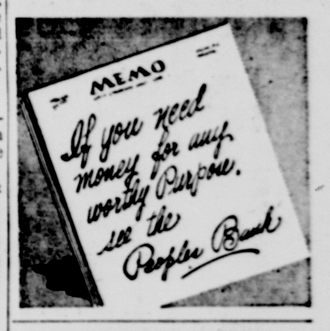

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Several Hundred False Jobless Pay Claims Filed

New Detection Method Put Into Operation

"Several hundred" fraudulent claims for unemployment compensation benefits were filed at the local office of the Unemployment Compensation Board in the past year, Francis A. Kenney, local manager, disclosed yesterday in announcing that a "positive means of detecting fraud" has been put into operation.

Asked to be more specific, Kenney put the number of fraudulent claims detected at about 200 and added that probably some additional claimants for both state unemployment compensation and benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance Act, according to Kenney, who pointed out that some 147,000 claims for compensation were filed in the last 12 months under both plans.

Want "One More Check"

Most fraudulent claims are filed, he explained, by persons who collect compensation after being laid off of one job and try to draw "one more check" after they obtain reemployment.

Kenney said that in the past year some fraudulent claimants were prosecuted in the local courts where fines ranged from $50—the minimum—to $375.

In the latter case the claimant received a suspended fine of $375 and suspended sentence of 30 days in jail on condition he make restitution within 10 days of $375 fraudulently received as compensation, Kenney said.

He added that claimants who were not taken into court were forced to "make full restitution" of the fraudulent compensation received or to forfeit their right to further benefits. This decision was made by the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Many claimants, confronted with "discrepancies" in their claim for compensation and their employment record, are quick to make restitution, Kenney said.

Information on a "substantial number" of previous fraudulent claims was obtained by the work of investigators whose purpose is to check all claimants, Kenney asserted, adding that these men work in the field, contacting employers, claimants, neighbors and others in order to obtain all information possible.

Want To Prevent Fraud

"We want to prevent fraud," Kenney stated, "and the board is determined to stop bad claims."

To that end a new type of report, known as an accession notice, has been worked out which Kenney termed a "positive means of detecting fraud."

Cases where fraudulent claims previously were filed and went undetected will be readily determined by the new procedure, which became effective April 1, according to Kenney, who said many such claims already have been detected and prosecution is pending.

Explaining how the accession notice works, Kenney said such a notice must be submitted by all employers in Maryland, notifying the Unemployment Compensation Board as to the date of employment of each employe. The employer who fails to submit an accession notice is subject to a penalty of from $2 to $10.

The accession notice must be submitted to the UCB within five business days after each employe is hired or added to the payroll, Kenney related. His name, address, Social Security number and the date of filing the report must be submitted in the notice, and each form must be signed by a responsible and duly authorized person.

From the employer, the notice is sent to the state UCB office where it is checked against the claims record and then sent to the local office.

Can Determine Employment

With an accession report on hand, Kenney said it will be possible to determine at a moment's notice if a claimant of compensation is employed and for how long a period he has been employed.

Prosecution of state claimants rests with the UCB and the local state's attorney, Kenney said, and prosecution of servicemen's claims rests with the Veterans Administration and the United States District Attorney.

Driver Escapes Serious Injury As Hearse Wrecks

Damage To Vehicle Estimated At $1,000

The driver and only occupant of a hearse owned by the Stein Funeral Home escaped serious injury when the vehicle crashed and was damaged to the extent of an estimated $1,000 about 100 yards south of the Pinto intersection on Route 220 at 6 p. m. yesterday, according to State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated.

Rotruck said the driver, Charles L. DeBouck, 110 Eutaw Place, escaped with brush burns and abrasions when he was thrown from the hearse. DeBrouck was theated at Allegany Hospital.

Headed toward Cumberland, the hearse skidded on a curve, slippery after a slight drizzle of rain, crossed to the left side of the road, hit a bank and rolled all the way over, landing on its wheels in the center of the road.

Then the machine headed toward the right side of the road, hit and snapped off a guy wire from a small pole, dropped down a four-foot bank, travelled 30 to 40 feet across a yard and came to a stop in a small creek.

In the meantime, DeBouck was tossed clear of the hearse as it hit the embankment and landed head first in soft dirt. He watched, helpless to stop it, as the machine coursed across the road and the yard, stopping in the creek.

Rotruck roughly estimated the damage to the hearse, at 1945 model, at $1,000.

He said no charges will be filed against DeBouck.

Two Mothers Seek Children's Custody

Associate Judge George Henderson, following a hearing on a habeas corpus petition in Circuit Court, has denied Mrs. Leona M. Wahl, Cresaptown, custody of her two children, Patricia C. and William A. O'Haver, Jr.

The petition was filed against her former husband, William A. O'Haver, Westernport, who was granted custody of the children during divorce proceedings sometime ago. Since she remarried, the mother contends she can provide a better home for them.

Judge Henderson ruled that she be allowed to visit the children at reasonable times, subject to further orders of the Court.

Another hearing on a similar petition failed to materialize, when it was reported to the Court that the father and child involved had left the state.

This case was instituted by Mrs. Catherine Lambert, Midland, who sought to regain custody of her daughter, now with her former husband, Ellsworth Gray. The petition was filed against Gray and his mother, Mrs. Annie Gray, to regain the custody of Nellie Ann Gray. The father had been awarded custody of the child following a divorce, but Mrs. Lambert since her remarriage contends she can now provide a better home for the child.

Five Divorce Cases Before Circuit Court

One divorce decree was granted in Circuit Court yesterday, while four new divorce suits were docketed.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, signed a decree divorcing Mrs. Goldie M. Brown, 21, Oldtown Road, from Amos E. Brown, and also awarded her custody of two children. The couple married February 17, 1943 and lived together until February 1945.

Mrs. Lenna Baumgardner, this city, has filed for divorce from Dory G. Baumgardner, said to be a nonresident of Maryland. Her bill of complaint states they were married in Oakland, May 21, 1920, and agreed to separate June 1, 1937 while living here. They have three children all of legal age.

Mrs. Shirley May Groves, seeks divorce from Charles A. Groves, and also wants to resume her maiden name, Fleek. They were married in 1942 in Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mrs. Clara Lightcap, seeks a divorce from David Lightcap, and petitioned for custody of their child. They married here December 30, 1941, and liver together until September 1945.

In a partial divorce suit petition, Mrs. Virgie C. Owens, Homewood Addition, seeks custody of three children, and alimony from Harry C. Owens, Baltimore. She claims they were married August 30, 1930, in Hagerstown, and lived together until May 10, this year.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed a Court Order instructing Owens to pay his wife $30 per week pending a decision, and also restrained him from entering the wife's home or molesting her.

Request Residents To Mail Names

An effort is being made by Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., to bring the town's honor roll of World War II servicemen and women up to date, William L. Dailey, post adjutant said last night.

Robert I. Poling has been named honor roll chairman to handle the project and he has requested that all residents of Ridgeley, W. Va., who served in the armed forces, check the honor roll to make certain their names appear. Members of families of Ridgeley servicemen are also asked to cooperate and to send in the names of men and women in their families, who served and have not been lettered onto the honor roll.

Poling and Dailey explain that the board was started and sponsored by the Ridgeley Lions Club, Ridgeley Volunteer Firemen, and Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club, during the war, but has now been turned over to the Legion Post for completion. The post hopes to bring it up to date before Memorial Day, and Poling requests the names before May 25.

The honor roll, situated opposite the town's post office, contains approximately 500 names, but is not complete, Poling said.

Members of the Legion post will meet at Legion headquarters tonight at 8 o'clock, at which time nominations will be made for candidates for post officers.

Local Jaycees Hope To Find "Miss America" In Maryland

Plan Pageants For Atlantic City Entry

Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has acquired the franchise for the sponsorship of the Maryland state finals and the local contest, as a part of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, and plans are underway to select "Miss Maryland" as the state's representative at Atlantic City, for the selection of "Miss America", late this summer.

At the Maryland state convention of the Jaycees here over the weekend, Miss Lenora S. Slaughter, executive director of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, discussed and explained staging pageants with the local and state groups.

According to David Kauffman, local Jaycee president, Cumberland Jaycees will sponsor a local contest to select "Miss Cumberland" and will issue franchises to other Jaycee units throughout the state, or to other interested civic and service groups, for local contests in the principal communities. Then all the winners will be brought here for the state finals pageant, the winner to represent the state at Atlanic City as "Miss Maryland."

Says Beauty Is Here

Throughout the country, local and state Jaycee groups are becoming the principal sponsors of these beauty pageants, Miss Slaughter stated, citing West Virginia, Florida, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas and other states as examples. Jaycee units who were sponsors last year and the year before, are all repeating this year she explained, and new Jaycee groups are being interested everywhere.

"The beauty is here," Miss Slaughter declared, after spending two days touring the area. Western Maryland girls are brimming with beauty," she exclaimed. "On the street, in the hotel lobby, in church, at clubs, everywhere I went, I saw indications that the Cumberland Committee will have little difficulty in selecting a potential Miss America in its preliminary pageant. There is much to chose from.

"It must be remembered," Miss Slaughter reminded, "that talent now plays an important part in the "Miss America" pageant, "and I am sure you will be amazed by the amount of local talent that will be uncovered among your city's pretty girls."

The Atlantic City executive pointed out that "too often girls who possess some talent never have an opportunity to display it in public, and that "contestants should remember that their talent is not only being exhibited to the home town, but also to talent scouts and representatives of the entertainment world who follow the pageant from the preliminary contests to the national finals."

Miss Slaughter recommended that girls planning to enter the "Miss Cumberland" contest should start brushing up on their talents now. In addition to singers, dancers and those who have dramatic ability or can play musical instruments, girls who are interested in writing, painting, science or any other subject can compete simply by delivering a three-minute talk on their ambitions. "A short article about some interesting local character or event, or even a short story can be used," she said.

Touring the country in the interests of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, Miss Slaughter stopped in Cumberland to confer with Byron Kight, director of the Maryland Division of the Pageant, and Jack Moore, who will stage the contest for the selection of "Miss Cumberland." The Miss Cumberland preliminaries will be held in June, the Miss Maryland finals will be staged here in August.

With final arrangements for the "Miss Cumberland" contest almost completed, Jack Robb, chairman of the Cumberland entries committee, announced that contest entry blanks will soon be available.

Rizer's Bond Set At $300 In Case Of Watch Theft

Wiley Ford Man Held For Grand Jury

Charged with stealing a railroad watch valued at $75, Louis James Rizer, 22, Wiley Ford, W. Va., was held for action of the October grand jury and committed to the county jail in default of bond of $300 when he was arraigned before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Rizer was arrested here last Wednesday night in connection with the theft of the watch, and police learned that he was wanted by West Virginia authorites on charges of robbing a 50-year-old companion, identified as George L. Beeman, Brunswick, a B. and O. brakeman, at guns point, assaulting him with the weapon and leaving him bound and gagged in a ditch at Devil's Slide near Ridgeley.

Police said Rizer admitted taking the watch from the home of Donald Phillips, 612 Washington Street, after the latter took the prisoner to his home to sell him a sailor's uniform.

Rizer stood by his confession when arraigned yesterday. The watch was recovered in Morton's Loan Shop, Baltimore Street, where Rizer admitted pawning it for $30.

A West Virginia warrant charging Rizer with grand larceny for the theft of about $5, a wedding ring and a watch, has been issued as a detainer to hold him when he is released by Maryland authorities.

At a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew yesterday, Donald G. Mellott, who resides in a house trailer at Johnson and Paca Streets, was found guilty of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Mellott, on Saturday. He was fined $10 and costs of $5.

Court attaches said the couple became embroiled in an argument at their home and that Mellott struck his wife when she called him a name.

Mayor, Council Approve Smoke Control Ordinance

Measure To Become Effective January 1

The smoke control ordinance which has been under consideration since last February became Cumberland law yesterday by unanimous vote of the Mayor and Council, after City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger took 37 minutes to read the 11-page typewritten document. The ordinance was brought up at the suggestion of Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Mayor Thomas S. Post explained last night that action on the appointment of a smoke abatement engineer and a three-man board of appeals will necessarily be delayed pending the completion of work on the city's budget, adding that he has requested that $3,600 be appropriated for smoke control. The ordinance does not become effective until January 1.

City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett commented that Cumberland was the first incorporated city in the United States to adopt smoke control regulations, stating that in 1907 the city adopted a two-sentence ordinance "which was meaningless."

Campaign Of Education

The attorney said a campaign of public education in regard to smoke control will be more valuable than arrests, adding, "We don't want to chase people out of Cumberland or to create undue hardship, but we do want reasonable smoke control."

An ordinance prepared by Heskett last year applied only to railroads but the one which became law yesterday has complete application except for structures "occupied as residence buildings only and housing not more than four families."

The appointments will be made by the mayor subject to council approval, and compensation of the engineer and his assistants would be fixed by the Mayor and Council.

According to the ordinance, the engineer's duties will include examinations and inspections of fuel-burning installations to see that they comply with the requirements set up in the measure, and to prosecute violators of the regulations.

Will Adjust Problems

The appeals board will establish factors to be considered with regard to new installations and will act to adjust various technical and economic problems which may arise.

After January 1, 1948, it will be unlawful to operate any steam locomotive fired by bituminous coal unless it is equipped with overfire jets.

Remodeling or construction of fuel burning plants will have to have the approval of the abatement engineer, and must be so designed as to "prevent aid pollution."

It will be unlawful to produce "heat and power" or to use plants for the burning of refuse without securing a certificate from the abatement engineer. Permit fees are established and range from $2 to $30.

Appeals from the decisions of the engineer may be taken to the Advisory and Appeal Board and machinery is set up for hearings. Further appeals may be taken to the courts.

After three violations in a 12-month period the abatement engineer can seal a boiler or heating apparatus. Refusal to cooperate or to prevent inspections will be an ordinance violation.

Those guilty of violations will be subject to a fine of not less than $25 or more than $100 with each day of violation counting as a separate offense.

Bloodhound Aids In Search For Man

A bloodhound will be used again today by Pennsylvania State Police in their effort to locate Daniel Baker, 79, of near Finzel, Garrett County, who has been missing from his home, located across the state line in Greenville Township, Somerset County, Pa., since Saturday morning.

The dog, first used Sunday night, had no luck on that occasion and police said his failure was due to the fact that members of searching parties refused to stay back and give the animal a chance. Another try will be made today, beginning at 7 a. m.

Baker was last seen Saturday when he left his farm house for the barn. When he failed to return, members of the family notified authorities.

His home, located in a section known as McKenzie Hollow, is about 11 miles from Meyersdale.

Hawse Is Fined For Drunken Driving

A man identified as Arthur K. Hawse, 40, Kirby, W. Va., was fined $25 and cost yesterday before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell, Romney, after being convicted of a drunken driving charge, Trooper F. H. Tribett, of the West Virginia State Police, said.

Justice Russell also impounded the man's car for six months and revoked his license for a similar period. The charge was the result of an accident, which according to Trooper Tribett, occurred when Hawse's car collided with one operated by Roscoe P. Riggleman, Romney, Sunday afternoon on Route 50, near Vanderlip, W. Va.

Police said damage to the two cars amounted to approximately $50. No injuries were reported.

Williams To Be Taken To Juvenile Court

Ike Williams, about 45, arrested last week when the father of a 6-year-old girl complained to authorities that he was contributing to the delinquency of his minor daughter, will be given a hearing in Juvenile Court this week, authorities said yesterday.

County officials said Williams was scheduled to be taken to the court yesterday, but the case "did not come up." Williams, according to police, is on parole at the present time, after being given a suspended sentence in Circuit Court on a larceny count.

Long Post Office To Become LaVale

Complying with the request of the citizens of Long and LaVale, the Post Office Department will officially change the name of the Long Post Office to LaVale, effective July 1, Rep. J. Glenn Beall announced last night.

The move to change the name of the Long Post Office to LaVale has been underway for more than a year and has had the support of the LaVale Volunteer Firemen, Parent-Teacher Association and Homemakers.

George Dressman, postmaster at Long, said last night the change will mean that anyone living on Rural Routes One and Six must have their mail addressed to RFD One or Six, Cumberland, Md. All mail addressed to LaVale will come to the LaVale Post Office.

Route 1, he explained, begins west of the LaVale Fire Hall, and includes Winchester Road. Route 6 begins at Locust Grove and includes that section to the fire hall.

Dressman said the change in the name of the post office was asked to eliminate confusion in distribution of mail.

U. S. Conciliator To Arrive Today For TWUA Talks

Celanese Contract Expired At Midnight

James Holden, United States Conciliator, is expected to arrive in Cumberland today to take part in negotiations for a new contract between the Celanese Corporation of American and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, according to William Boyd Coleman, union president.

Holden is expected to arrive at noon today, the union president said and negotiation meetings which ended last Friday will probably be resumed Wednesday morning. The 8,600 member Celanese union opened negotiations for a new contract in April to replace the one that expired at midnight, last night.

Coleman said Herbert W. Payne, New York, director of the rayon division of the TWUA, who left after the last negotiating meeting Friday is expected to return to the city Wednesday morning to take part in the talks when they resume with Holden sitting in.

A company spokesman said Friday night that "considerable progress has been made during the contract talks" but reported the "primary issues" are still to be solved.

While the contract expired at midnight, the union membership last week authorized the executive committee to extend the terms of the contract beyond the termination date. However, the membership also empowered the committee to cancel the extension and call a strike if necessary to obtain "an appropriate agreement."

Holden's arrival today will be at the request of the union, which announced Friday that the United States Conciliation Service had been asked to assist in negotiating the new contract.

Neither company nor union has commented on the wage issue in talks except for a union statement, prior to the actual opening of negotiations, that a "substantial flat wage increase" would be asked.

Police Seek Driver After Minor Accident

City police last night were still searching for the driver of a Schmidt Baking Company truck, which they said crashed against a light pole in front of the Olympia Hotel on North Mechanic Street yesterday morning and then kept on going.

Investigating officers said the vehicle sideswiped the pole and broke a large glass shade which shattered when it hit the side walk. No one was injured, they declared.

Police said the driver continued in a westerly direction after the accident, and then turned out Greene Street. The pole was slightly damaged.

E. Wilson Smith, Winchester, Va., was released yesterday under $50 bond pending a hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court on a charge of reckless driving. Police said his car broke off a fire hydrant in the 100-block Greene Street Sunday morning.

Smith paid the City Water Department $75 damage to the hydrant.

Accident Victim's Condition Is "Fair"

Gordon Paul Hardy, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hardy, 808 Sylvan Avenue, who suffered a possible fractured skull when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car Sunday west of the city limits on Route 40, was reported "fair" last night by Allegany Hospital attaches.

State Police identified the driver of the car as Charles E. Jones, Cash Valley Road. Robert V. Young, whom police said was riding on the bicycle bars was treated for minor injuries. No charges were preferred against the driver, police asserted.

Sally D. Pirkey, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pirkey, Paca Street, was reported in "good" condition by attaches after she suffered severe head lacerations when she was struck by an automobile Sunday morning while crossing from Henry Street to North Centre Street. Police identified Cleland Hobert Helmick, 20, Route 2, Baltimore Pike, as driver of the car and said he posted $20 bond for a hearing Friday on charges of operating a car with inadequate brakes.

Associations Suggest Teachers For Leaders

Suggesting that school teachers "and other competent persons" be appointed play leaders at the nine city playgrounds for this summer, the City Playground Associations last night recommended a playground appropriation of $14,900 for the current fiscal year, including a $5,000 increase to be earmarked for the establishment of new playgrounds.

The recommendation was made at a joint meeting in City Hall of the group with the Park Board, which includes Mayor Thomas S. Post, Street Commissioner Myers G. Light, and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay. William H. Buchholtz, president of the City Playground Associations, which represents 12 local groups, presided.

Mayor Post and Commissioner Light said they will bring the matter up at today's meeting of the Mayor and Council for discussion of the city's budget, which is now being prepared. Last year's playground appropriation was $9,840, the mayor said.

Would Establish Supervisor

Buchholtz also recommended on behalf of his group that the position of city playground supervisor be abolished this year so that the money which would be used for the supervisor's salary can be spent in establishing new playgrounds.

He pointed out that committees of the association could act as supervisors at their respective playgrounds, reporting to the association, which would in turn report to the Park Board. In this way, he said, the board could be relieved of some "headaches" in connection with playground operation.

Light suggested that the president, vice-president and secretary of the organization "sit in" with the Park Board when play leaders are selected. William E. McCullough is vice-president and Henry Gehauf is secretary-treasurer. Light said he is anxious to co-operate in every respect with the association, so that the appropriation can be allocated to the satisfaction of each playground group.

The commissioner said arrangements are being made to level off a vacant lot on Lafayette Avenue to provide a new playground, adding that residents of that section have already raised $400 with which to purchase equipment.

With regard to the suggestion that teachers be asked to serve as play leaders at monthly salaries of $100, McCullough said the association feels that teachers would be qualified for the work, adding that several have indicated willingness to serve. Buchholtz pointed out that the organization could prepare a list of teachers and other competent persons, including those who have served in past years as play leaders, for the approval of the Park Board.

See Possible Complaints

Buchholtz asked whether it would be possible for the city to set aside vacant lots as play space, without providing equipment, but the mayor and Light said that without supervision of the children there might be complaints from nearby residents regarding noise and damage to their property.

Although they said they would bring the $14,900 request up at today's council meeting, both Mayor Post and Light pointed out that a larger playground appropriation for this year is not anticipated. The mayor said that although the city expects to obtaine an addition al $100,000 revenue from various sources, city departments have asked for an increase of $140,000 in appropriations, and that trimming costs rather than increasing them is the main object in preparing the budget.

Miss Madah E. Topson, a teacher at Carver High School, asked Buchholtz whether or not colored children could be allowed to use other playgrounds as well as their own at Pine Avenue, pointing out that many children live a good distance from that playground.

Urging that such action be taken "so that we can have the democracy we boast of," Miss Topson said some colored children have been using the West Side playground and that no trouble has been reported. This was confirmed by Mrs. Findlay.

Buchholtz said the matter would be considered when new playgrounds are being developed, suggesting that space at Carver School be utilized for a centrally located playground and that parents of Carver students follow the example of other parent groups and hold social events to raise funds for equipment.

Want Men Named

McCullough made the point that although the city provides playgrounds, parents do not always see that their children use the grounds instead of playing on the streets, adding that the association is also recommending appointment of some men in the play leader group to conduct boys' activities.

In response to a question raised by McCullough with regard to the new admission tax on bingo games, Light said he does not believe bingo games at playgrounds would be taxed because there is no set admission fee. He said he will confer with City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett on the matter.

Applications For Sales Tax License Available

Very few retail merchants have obtained necessary application forms available at the office of Clerk of Court Robert Jackson, Court House, for licenses to collect retail sales tax, it was reported at the office yesterday.

Under the new state sales tax law which becomes effective July 1, all retailers must have and display a license from State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Jackson explained. The license will cost $1, and must show the trade name as well as the name of the owner or owners of the business.

Applications for the sales and use tax license must be filled out an delivered to the Comptroller's Retail Sales Tax Division on or before July 1. Forms are in duplicate and the licenses are not transferrable, Jackson said. No charge is made here for application blanks, but a fee of $1 must accompany the form when it is mailed.

Several Hundred False Jobless Pay Claims Filed

New Detection Method Put Into Operation

"Several hundred" fraudulent claims for unemployment compensation benefits were filed at the local office of the Unemployment Compensation Board in the past year, Francis A. Kenney, local manager, disclosed yesterday in announcing that a "positive means of detecting fraud" has been put into operation.

Asked to be more specific, Kenney put the number of fraudulent claims detected at about 200 and added that probably some additional claimants for both state unemployment compensation and benefits under the Servicemen's Readjustment Allowance Act, according to Kenney, who pointed out that some 147,000 claims for compensation were filed in the last 12 months under both plans.

Want "One More Check"

Most fraudulent claims are filed, he explained, by persons who collect compensation after being laid off of one job and try to draw "one more check" after they obtain reemployment.

Kenney said that in the past year some fraudulent claimants were prosecuted in the local courts where fines ranged from $50—the minimum—to $375.

In the latter case the claimant received a suspended fine of $375 and suspended sentence of 30 days in jail on condition he make restitution within 10 days of $375 fraudulently received as compensation, Kenney said.

He added that claimants who were not taken into court were forced to "make full restitution" of the fraudulent compensation received or to forfeit their right to further benefits. This decision was made by the Unemployment Compensation Board.

Many claimants, confronted with "discrepancies" in their claim for compensation and their employment record, are quick to make restitution, Kenney said.

Information on a "substantial number" of previous fraudulent claims was obtained by the work of investigators whose purpose is to check all claimants, Kenney asserted, adding that these men work in the field, contacting employers, claimants, neighbors and others in order to obtain all information possible.

Want To Prevent Fraud

"We want to prevent fraud," Kenney stated, "and the board is determined to stop bad claims."

To that end a new type of report, known as an accession notice, has been worked out which Kenney termed a "positive means of detecting fraud."

Cases where fraudulent claims previously were filed and went undetected will be readily determined by the new procedure, which became effective April 1, according to Kenney, who said many such claims already have been detected and prosecution is pending.

Explaining how the accession notice works, Kenney said such a notice must be submitted by all employers in Maryland, notifying the Unemployment Compensation Board as to the date of employment of each employe. The employer who fails to submit an accession notice is subject to a penalty of from $2 to $10.

The accession notice must be submitted to the UCB within five business days after each employe is hired or added to the payroll, Kenney related. His name, address, Social Security number and the date of filing the report must be submitted in the notice, and each form must be signed by a responsible and duly authorized person.

From the employer, the notice is sent to the state UCB office where it is checked against the claims record and then sent to the local office.

Can Determine Employment

With an accession report on hand, Kenney said it will be possible to determine at a moment's notice if a claimant of compensation is employed and for how long a period he has been employed.

Prosecution of state claimants rests with the UCB and the local state's attorney, Kenney said, and prosecution of servicemen's claims rests with the Veterans Administration and the United States District Attorney.

Driver Escapes Serious Injury As Hearse Wrecks

Damage To Vehicle Estimated At $1,000

The driver and only occupant of a hearse owned by the Stein Funeral Home escaped serious injury when the vehicle crashed and was damaged to the extent of an estimated $1,000 about 100 yards south of the Pinto intersection on Route 220 at 6 p. m. yesterday, according to State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who investigated.

Rotruck said the driver, Charles L. DeBouck, 110 Eutaw Place, escaped with brush burns and abrasions when he was thrown from the hearse. DeBrouck was theated at Allegany Hospital.

Headed toward Cumberland, the hearse skidded on a curve, slippery after a slight drizzle of rain, crossed to the left side of the road, hit a bank and rolled all the way over, landing on its wheels in the center of the road.

Then the machine headed toward the right side of the road, hit and snapped off a guy wire from a small pole, dropped down a four-foot bank, travelled 30 to 40 feet across a yard and came to a stop in a small creek.

In the meantime, DeBouck was tossed clear of the hearse as it hit the embankment and landed head first in soft dirt. He watched, helpless to stop it, as the machine coursed across the road and the yard, stopping in the creek.

Rotruck roughly estimated the damage to the hearse, at 1945 model, at $1,000.

He said no charges will be filed against DeBouck.

Two Mothers Seek Children's Custody

Associate Judge George Henderson, following a hearing on a habeas corpus petition in Circuit Court, has denied Mrs. Leona M. Wahl, Cresaptown, custody of her two children, Patricia C. and William A. O'Haver, Jr.

The petition was filed against her former husband, William A. O'Haver, Westernport, who was granted custody of the children during divorce proceedings sometime ago. Since she remarried, the mother contends she can provide a better home for them.

Judge Henderson ruled that she be allowed to visit the children at reasonable times, subject to further orders of the Court.

Another hearing on a similar petition failed to materialize, when it was reported to the Court that the father and child involved had left the state.

This case was instituted by Mrs. Catherine Lambert, Midland, who sought to regain custody of her daughter, now with her former husband, Ellsworth Gray. The petition was filed against Gray and his mother, Mrs. Annie Gray, to regain the custody of Nellie Ann Gray. The father had been awarded custody of the child following a divorce, but Mrs. Lambert since her remarriage contends she can now provide a better home for the child.

Five Divorce Cases Before Circuit Court

One divorce decree was granted in Circuit Court yesterday, while four new divorce suits were docketed.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, signed a decree divorcing Mrs. Goldie M. Brown, 21, Oldtown Road, from Amos E. Brown, and also awarded her custody of two children. The couple married February 17, 1943 and lived together until February 1945.

Mrs. Lenna Baumgardner, this city, has filed for divorce from Dory G. Baumgardner, said to be a non-resident of Maryland. Her bill of complaint states they were married in Oakland, May 21, 1920, and agreed to separate June 1, 1937 while living here. They have three children all of legal age.

Mrs. Shirley May Groves, seeks divorce from Charles A. Groves, and also wants to resume her maiden name, Fleek. They were married in 1942 in Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mrs. Clara Lightcap, seeks a divorce from David Lightcap, and petitioned for custody of their child. They married here December 30, 1941, and liver together until September 1945.

In a partial divorce suit petition, Mrs. Virgie C. Owens, Homewood Addition, seeks custody of three children, and alimony from Harry C. Owens, Baltimore. She claims they were married August 30, 1930, in Hagerstown, and lived together until May 10, this year.

Associate Judge George Henderson signed a Court Order instructing Owens to pay his wife $30 per week pending a decision, and also restrained him from entering the wife's home or molesting her.

Request Residents To Mail Names

An effort is being made by Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va., to bring the town's honor roll of World War II servicemen and women up to date, William L. Dailey, post adjutant said last night.

Robert I. Poling has been named honor roll chairman to handle the project and he has requested that all residents of Ridgeley, W. The post hopes to bring it up to date before Memorial Day, and Poling requests the names before May 25.

Local Jaycees Hope To Find "Miss America" In Maryland

Plan Pageants For Atlantic City Entry

Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce has acquired the franchise for the sponsorship of the Maryland state finals and the local contest, as a part of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, and plans are underway to select "Miss Maryland" as the state's representative at Atlantic City, for the selection of "Miss America", late this summer.

At the Maryland state convention of the Jaycees here over the weekend, Miss Lenora S. Slaughter, executive director of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, discussed and explained staging pageants with the local and state groups.

According to David Kauffman, local Jaycee president, Cumberland Jaycees will sponsor a local contest to select "Miss Cumberland" and will issue franchises to other Jaycee units throughout the state, or to other interested civic and service groups, for local contests in the principal communities. Then all the winners will be brought here for the state finals pageant, the winner to represent the state at Atlanic City as "Miss Maryland."

Says Beauty Is Here

Throughout the country, local and state Jaycee groups are becoming the principal sponsors of these beauty pageants, Miss Slaughter stated, citing West Virginia, Florida, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Texas and other states as examples. Jaycee units who were sponsors last year and the year before, are all repeating this year she explained, and new Jaycee groups are being interested everywhere.

"The beauty is here," Miss Slaughter declared, after spending two days touring the area. Western Maryland girls are brimming with beauty," she exclaimed. "On the street, in the hotel lobby, in church, at clubs, everywhere I went, I saw indications that the Cumberland Committee will have little difficulty in selecting a potential Miss America in its preliminary pageant. There is much to chose from.

"It must be remembered," Miss Slaughter reminded, "that talent now plays an important part in the "Miss America" pageant, "and I am sure you will be amazed by the amount of local talent that will be uncovered among your city's pretty girls."

The Atlantic City executive pointed out that "too often girls who possess some talent never have an opportunity to display it in public, and that "contestants should remember that their talent is not only being exhibited to the home town, but also to talent scouts and representatives of the entertainment world who follow the pageant from the preliminary contests to the national finals."

Miss Slaughter recommended that girls planning to enter the "Miss Cumberland" contest should start brushing up on their talents now. In addition to singers, dancers and those who have dramatic ability or can play musical instruments, girls who are interested in writing, painting, science or any other subject can compete simply by delivering a three-minute talk on their ambitions. "A short article about some interesting local character or event, or even a short story can be used," she said.

Touring the country in the interests of the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, Miss Slaughter stopped in Cumberland to confer with Byron Kight, director of the Maryland Division of the Pageant, and Jack Moore, who will stage the contest for the selection of "Miss Cumberland." The Miss Cumberland preliminaries will be held in June, the Miss Maryland finals will be staged here in August.

With final arrangements for the "Miss Cumberland" contest almost completed, Jack Robb, chairman of the Cumberland entries committee, announced that contest entry blanks will soon be available.

Rizer's Bond Set At $300 In Case Of Watch Theft

Wiley Ford Man Held For Grand Jury

Charged with stealing a railroad watch valued at $75, Louis James Rizer, 22, Wiley Ford, W. Va., was held for action of the October grand jury and committed to the county jail in default of bond of $300 when he was arraigned before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Rizer was arrested here last Wednesday night in connection with the theft of the watch, and police learned that he was wanted by West Virginia authorites on charges of robbing a 50-year-old companion, identified as George L. Beeman, Brunswick, a B. and O. brakeman, at guns point, assaulting him with the weapon and leaving him bound and gagged in a ditch at Devil's Slide near Ridgeley.

Police said Rizer admitted taking the watch from the home of Donald Phillips, 612 Washington Street, after the latter took the prisoner to his home to sell him a sailor's uniform.

Rizer stood by his confession when arraigned yesterday. The watch was recovered in Morton's Loan Shop, Baltimore Street, where Rizer admitted pawning it for $30.

A West Virginia warrant charging Rizer with grand larceny for the theft of about $5, a wedding ring and a watch, has been issued as a detainer to hold him when he is released by Maryland authorities.

At a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew yesterday, Donald G. Mellott, who resides in a house trailer at Johnson and Paca Streets, was found guilty of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Mellott, on Saturday. He was fined $10 and costs of $5.

Court attaches said the couple became embroiled in an argument at their home and that Mellott struck his wife when she called him a name.

Mayor, Council Approve Smoke Control Ordinance

Measure To Become Effective January 1

The smoke control ordinance which has been under consideration since last February became Cumberland law yesterday by unanimous vote of the Mayor and Council, after City Clerk Samuel E. Griminger took 37 minutes to read the 11-page typewritten document. The ordinance was brought up at the suggestion of Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Mayor Thomas S. Post explained last night that action on the appointment of a smoke abatement engineer and a three-man board of appeals will necessarily be delayed pending the completion of work on the city's budget, adding that he has requested that $3,600 be appropriated for smoke control. The ordinance does not become effective until January 1.

City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett commented that Cumberland was the first incorporated city in the United States to adopt smoke control regulations, stating that in 1907 the city adopted a two-sentence ordinance "which was meaningless."

Campaign Of Education

The attorney said a campaign of public education in regard to smoke control will be more valuable than arrests, adding, "We don't want to chase people out of Cumberland or to create undue hardship, but we do want reasonable smoke control."

An ordinance prepared by Heskett last year applied only to railroads but the one which became law yesterday has complete application except for structures "occupied as residence buildings only and housing not more than four families."

The appointments will be made by the mayor subject to council approval, and compensation of the engineer and his assistants would be fixed by the Mayor and Council.

According to the ordinance, the engineer's duties will include examinations and inspections of fuel-burning installations to see that they comply with the requirements set up in the measure, and to prosecute violators of the regulations.

Will Adjust Problems

The appeals board will establish factors to be considered with regard to new installations and will act to adjust various technical and economic problems which may arise.

After January 1, 1948, it will be unlawful to operate any steam locomotive fired by bituminous coal unless it is equipped with overfire jets.

Remodeling or construction of fuel burning plants will have to have the approval of the abatement engineer, and must be so designed as to "prevent aid pollution."

It will be unlawful to produce "heat and power" or to use plants for the burning of refuse without securing a certificate from the abatement engineer. Permit fees are established and range from $2 to $30.

Appeals from the decisions of the engineer may be taken to the Advisory and Appeal Board and machinery is set up for hearings. Further appeals may be taken to the courts.

After three violations in a 12-month period the abatement engineer can seal a boiler or heating apparatus. Refusal to cooperate or to prevent inspections will be an ordinance violation.

Those guilty of violations will be subject to a fine of not less than $25 or more than $100 with each day of violation counting as a separate offense.

Bloodhound Aids In Search For Man

A bloodhound will be used again today by Pennsylvania State Police in their effort to locate Daniel Baker, 79, of near Finzel, Garrett County, who has been missing from his home, located across the state line in Greenville Township, Somerset County, Pa., since Saturday morning.

The dog, first used Sunday night, had no luck on that occasion and police said his failure was due to the fact that members of searching parties refused to stay back and give the animal a chance. Another try will be made today, beginning at 7 a. m.

Baker was last seen Saturday when he left his farm house for the barn. When he failed to return, members of the family notified authorities.

His home, located in a section known as McKenzie Hollow, is about 11 miles from Meyersdale.

Hawse Is Fined For Drunken Driving

A man identified as Arthur K. Hawse, 40, Kirby, W. Va., was fined $25 and cost yesterday before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell, Romney, after being convicted of a drunken driving charge, Trooper F. H. Tribett, of the West Virginia State Police, said.

Justice Russell also impounded the man's car for six months and revoked his license for a similar period. The charge was the result of an accident, which according to Trooper Tribett, occurred when Hawse's car collided with one operated by Roscoe P. Riggleman, Romney, Sunday afternoon on Route 50, near Vanderlip, W. Va.

Police said damage to the two cars amounted to approximately $50. No injuries were reported.

County officials said Williams was scheduled to be taken to the court yesterday, but the case "did not come up." Williams, according to police, is on parole at the present time, after being given a suspended sentence in Circuit Court on a larceny count.

Long Post Office To Become LaVale

Complying with the request of the citizens of Long and LaVale, the Post Office Department will officially change the name of the Long Post Office to LaVale, effective July 1, Rep. J. Glenn Beall announced last night.

The move to change the name of the Long Post Office to LaVale has been underway for more than a year and has had the support of the LaVale Volunteer Firemen, Parent-Teacher Association and Homemakers.

George Dressman, postmaster at Long, said last night the change will mean that anyone living on Rural Routes One and Six must have their mail addressed to RFD One or Six, Cumberland, Md. All mail addressed to LaVale will come to the LaVale Post Office.

Route 1, he explained, begins west of the LaVale Fire Hall, and includes Winchester Road. Route 6 begins at Locust Grove and includes that section to the fire hall.

Dressman said the change in the name of the post office was asked to eliminate confusion in distribution of mail.

U. S. Conciliator To Arrive Today For TWUA Talks

Celanese Contract Expired At Midnight

James Holden, United States Conciliator, is expected to arrive in Cumberland today to take part in negotiations for a new contract between the Celanese Corporation of American and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, according to William Boyd Coleman, union president.

Holden is expected to arrive at noon today, the union president said and negotiation meetings which ended last Friday will probably be resumed Wednesday morning. The 8,600 member Celanese union opened negotiations for a new contract in April to replace the one that expired at midnight, last night.

Coleman said Herbert W. Payne, New York, director of the rayon division of the TWUA, who left after the last negotiating meeting Friday is expected to return to the city Wednesday morning to take part in the talks when they resume with Holden sitting in.

A company spokesman said Friday night that "considerable progress has been made during the contract talks" but reported the "primary issues" are still to be solved.

While the contract expired at midnight, the union membership last week authorized the executive committee to extend the terms of the contract beyond the termination date. However, the membership also empowered the committee to cancel the extension and call a strike if necessary to obtain "an appropriate agreement."

Holden's arrival today will be at the request of the union, which announced Friday that the United States Conciliation Service had been asked to assist in negotiating the new contract.

Neither company nor union has commented on the wage issue in talks except for a union statement, prior to the actual opening of negotiations, that a "substantial flat wage increase" would be asked.

Police Seek Driver After Minor Accident

City police last night were still searching for the driver of a Schmidt Baking Company truck, which they said crashed against a light pole in front of the Olympia Hotel on North Mechanic Street yesterday morning and then kept on going.

Investigating officers said the vehicle sideswiped the pole and broke a large glass shade which shattered when it hit the side walk. No one was injured, they declared.

Police said the driver continued in a westerly direction after the accident, and then turned out Greene Street. The pole was slightly damaged.

E. Wilson Smith, Winchester, Va., was released yesterday under $50 bond pending a hearing today in Trial Magistrate's Court on a charge of reckless driving. Police said his car broke off a fire hydrant in the 100-block Greene Street Sunday morning.

Smith paid the City Water Department $75 damage to the hydrant.

Accident Victim's Condition Is "Fair"

Gordon Paul Hardy, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hardy, 808 Sylvan Avenue, who suffered a possible fractured skull when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car Sunday west of the city limits on Route 40, was reported "fair" last night by Allegany Hospital attaches.

State Police identified the driver of the car as Charles E. Jones, Cash Valley Road. Robert V. Young, whom police said was riding on the bicycle bars was treated for minor injuries. No charges were preferred against the driver, police asserted.

Sally D. Pirkey, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pirkey, Paca Street, was reported in "good" condition by attaches after she suffered severe head lacerations when she was struck by an automobile Sunday morning while crossing from Henry Street to North Centre Street. Police identified Cleland Hobert Helmick, 20, Route 2, Baltimore Pike, as driver of the car and said he posted $20 bond for a hearing Friday on charges of operating a car with inadequate brakes.

Associations Suggest Teachers For Leaders

Suggesting that school teachers "and other competent persons" be appointed play leaders at the nine city playgrounds for this summer, the City Playground Associations last night recommended a playground appropriation of $14,900 for the current fiscal year, including a $5,000 increase to be earmarked for the establishment of new playgrounds.

The recommendation was made at a joint meeting in City Hall of the group with the Park Board, which includes Mayor Thomas S. Post, Street Commissioner Myers G. Light, and Mrs. Marguerite E. Findlay. William H. Buchholtz, president of the City Playground Associations, which represents 12 local groups, presided.

Mayor Post and Commissioner Light said they will bring the matter up at today's meeting of the Mayor and Council for discussion of the city's budget, which is now being prepared. Last year's playground appropriation was $9,840, the mayor said.

Would Establish Supervisor

Buchholtz also recommended on behalf of his group that the position of city playground supervisor be abolished this year so that the money which would be used for the supervisor's salary can be spent in establishing new playgrounds.

He pointed out that committees of the association could act as supervisors at their respective playgrounds, reporting to the association, which would in turn report to the Park Board. In this way, he said, the board could be relieved of some "headaches" in connection with playground operation.

Light suggested that the president, vice-president and secretary of the organization "sit in" with the Park Board when play leaders are selected. William E. McCullough is vice-president and Henry Gehauf is secretary-treasurer. Light said he is anxious to co-operate in every respect with the association, so that the appropriation can be allocated to the satisfaction of each playground group.

The commissioner said arrangements are being made to level off a vacant lot on Lafayette Avenue to provide a new playground, adding that residents of that section have already raised $400 with which to purchase equipment.

With regard to the suggestion that teachers be asked to serve as play leaders at monthly salaries of $100, McCullough said the association feels that teachers would be qualified for the work, adding that several have indicated willingness to serve. Buchholtz pointed out that the organization could prepare a list of teachers and other competent persons, including those who have served in past years as play leaders, for the approval of the Park Board.

See Possible Complaints

Buchholtz asked whether it would be possible for the city to set aside vacant lots as play space, without providing equipment, but the mayor and Light said that without supervision of the children there might be complaints from nearby residents regarding noise and damage to their property.

Although they said they would bring the $14,900 request up at today's council meeting, both Mayor Post and Light pointed out that a larger playground appropriation for this year is not anticipated. The mayor said that although the city expects to obtaine an addition al $100,000 revenue from various sources, city departments have asked for an increase of $140,000 in appropriations, and that trimming costs rather than increasing them is the main object in preparing the budget.

Miss Madah E. Topson, a teacher at Carver High School, asked Buchholtz whether or not colored children could be allowed to use other playgrounds as well as their own at Pine Avenue, pointing out that many children live a good distance from that playground.

Urging that such action be taken "so that we can have the democracy we boast of," Miss Topson said some colored children have been using the West Side playground and that no trouble has been reported. This was confirmed by Mrs. Findlay.

Buchholtz said the matter would be considered when new playgrounds are being developed, suggesting that space at Carver School be utilized for a centrally located playground and that parents of Carver students follow the example of other parent groups and hold social events to raise funds for equipment.

Want Men Named

McCullough made the point that although the city provides playgrounds, parents do not always see that their children use the grounds instead of playing on the streets, adding that the association is also recommending appointment of some men in the play leader group to conduct boys' activities.

In response to a question raised by McCullough with regard to the new admission tax on bingo games, Light said he does not believe bingo games at playgrounds would be taxed because there is no set admission fee. He said he will confer with City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett on the matter.

Applications For Sales Tax License Available

Very few retail merchants have obtained necessary application forms available at the office of Clerk of Court Robert Jackson, Court House, for licenses to collect retail sales tax, it was reported at the office yesterday.

Under the new state sales tax law which becomes effective July 1, all retailers must have and display a license from State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Jackson explained. The license will cost $1, and must show the trade name as well as the name of the owner or owners of the business.

Applications for the sales and use tax license must be filled out an delivered to the Comptroller's Retail Sales Tax Division on or before July 1. Forms are in duplicate and the licenses are not transferrable, Jackson said. No charge is made here for application blanks, but a fee of $1 must accompany the form when it is mailed.
